A Searching Look At Hub

San Anselmans will take a searching look at their city — where it stands and where it wants to go —when they hold their second annual "Town Meeting" tomorrow at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The meeting will start at 1 p.m. in the school's theater with a keynote address expected to both please and jar the citizenry. It will be delivered by William Siden, who will present slides showing the city's virtues and faults.

Siden, of the community developmwnt of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., delivered last year's opening talk and is expected to pinpoint things done and left undone since then.

The meeting will then disperse to five discussion groups devoted to community aspects calling for understanding or improvement: schools, streets and traffic, downtown, parks and recreation, city government and taxes.

The discussion topics were selected on the basis of replies to questionaires distributed to San Anselmo residents earlier this year by the sponsoring Congress for Community Progress with the assistance of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and San Anselmo Homes Association.

A majority of replies rated the city's seven elementary schools and teachers "good" to excellent," yet more than a quarter of those responding called schools one of the chief matters they wanted to discuss.

The panel on schools is expected to draw a large share of the public attending, because operation of the schools by its autonomous school board is the biggest phase of local government, having 2,144 pupils and a current budget of nearly $1.5 million.

Parks and recreation problems should get a thorough airing, according to congress president James Reed, who said that "the survey indicates quite a Co. in Richmond.

His big chance to get into the boating business came in the early ost-war years when he teamed with partner Clifford M.

Three Bridge Painters Fired By Directors

Dissenter Says Board's Action Shirking Duty

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors voted today 12-2 to fire three bridge painters and let the Fair Employment Practices Commission hear any appeals.

The two dissenters, John E. Dearman and Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco declared this action was shirking the board's duties.

"I feel the board should do its own house cleaning," Dearman said. "To avoid this red hot issue is ducking responsibility. We're trying to appease the general manager and let him run the show."

GOES FURTHER

Leonoudakis went even further.

"During the last five years the general manager has been running this operation and we work for him. I'm sick and tired of this," he said.

"I think it's time to consider hiring a new manager."

The outburst resulted from the discharge of two Negro painters, Jimmy Lee Wilkins of Oakland and James Hougabook of San Mateo by general manager James Adam. Also dismissed was Paul Powell, shop steward for Local 4 of the Painters Union.

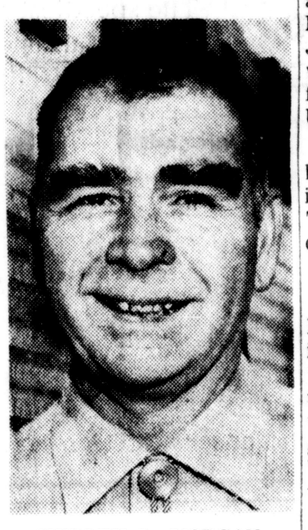
The majority of the directors, however, voted to uphold the firing for alleged incompetence. The painters contend it is racial discrimination.

FAVORS HEARING

Director Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco said he favors a hearing before the FEPC in order to "clear the atmosphere because there is an aura of suspicion on whether the bridge board can give the painters a fair hearing. Whatever the FEPC concludes, we'll be bound by," he said.

Leonoudakis attempted to have the painters continue on the job for six months but his motion was voted down 12-2. The directors voted to hire San Francisco attorney George Bahrs to represent the bridge district on any appeals by the fired painters.

Shirley L. Morgan In Fatal Car Crash



SHIRLEY L. MORGAN

Shirley L. Morgan, well known co-owner of the Clipper Yacht Harbor in Sausalito, died yesterday of injuries suffered in a two-car crash.

And by an ironic twist of fate, his car crashed with an auto driven by his long-time friend and 20-year business associate James (Herb) Madden of Madden & Lewis Co., Sausalito land holders.

Morgan, 52, whose whole life was surrounded by boats and boating, died almost within sight of the waterfront he helped build from nothing to one of Sausalito's most extensive and flourishing marine concerns.

His car collided with Madden's auto at Locust and Bridgeway. So great was the impact, police had to cut Morgan from the wreck. He was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital shortly after arrival at 11:50 a.m.

Police reported Morgan was driving his foreign compact car north and hit Madden's auto broadside. Morgan suffered massive chest and head injuries as the front of his car folded like a concertina. Madden 79, was uninjured.

There were no road tire marks to indicate the brakes of either car had been applied before the crash, said police.

This was the 13th traffic fatality in Marin County so far this year, compared to nine at this date last year.

Morgan first fell in love with boats at the age of eight in his native Texas, but he had to wait until the end of World War II before he could devote all his energies to the waterfront.

He was a graduate of Southeastern State College in Oklahoma and came to California in 1934, moving from San Francisco to Sausalito shortly afterwards.

During the war, he helped build slipways at Mare Island and later worded as an engineer with Kaiser Permanente Metals

General Westmoreland Asks Unwavering Support In War

Patience Asked Of America

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress and the American people today that GI's in Vietnam can prevail over the Communists only with unwavering support and patience at home.

The 53-year-old general, U.S. commander in Vietnam, said in an unprecedented speech to a joint meeting of Congress that the Communists show no sign of giving in, that there is more bloody fighting ahead.

More of the same military and psychological pressure is the only road to success, he said. Meanwhile, he said, it was vital that he and other leaders know they need not look over their shoulder wondering if the homefront is fully behind them.

LIVE TO NATION

The speech was broadcast live to the nation by television and radio. President Johnson was among the millions of viewers. He chose not to attend the speech personally in the House chamber, but virtually every other key Cabinet member and government official was there.

It was the first time that an American military commander had left the troops he was actively directing to speak before Congress. Some congressmen charged that his appearance was designed to stifle dissent on Administration war policy and said they would stay away. But there were no noticeable absentees as Westmoreland spoke generally reading the speech he had worked on until 4 a.m.

WAR POLICY

Even some critics of Administration war policy praised the speech. Chief among these was Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. He pledged that Westmoreland need never "to look over his shoulder to see whether he is being supported because we know that under the Constitution the military's chief purpose is to carry out policy, and not to make it."

Reds Hold Strategic Viet Hill

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Marines called today for "all the help we can get" in their frustrated efforts to drive a Communist battalion from strategic Hill 861 in four days of fighting to block a Communist invasion route just below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

The heavy fighting has killed 57 Marines, wounded 77 anc cost kat least 2 helicopters. The Marines' cause was hampered severely by Communist mortar, rocket and artillery attacks today against three Marine bases to the south.

The barrages killed 13 Americans, wounded 190 and knocked out 30 helicopters and 2 transport planes, needed to help the embattled Leathernecks.

Hill 861 overlooks five Communist supply routes from Laos, five miles away, into the new tinderbox of South Vietnam's northern provinces.

The value the Communists attach to it was shown by their tenacity in beating off four days of Marine assaults and holding firm under intense artillery and air strikes.

Col. John P. Lanigan, commanding officer of the U.S. 3rd Marine Regiment, said, "We're asking for anything and everything they can give us" to help dislodge the 400 Communists dug-in caves and bunkers atop the 2,600-foot hill.

LBJ Asks Congress To Delay Rail Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Johnson urged Congress today to extend for 45 days the no strike period covering a dispute between the nation's railroads and six shop craft unions.

The row now is in the closing stages of a 20-day no-strike period authorized by Congress and this ends at 12:01 a.m. on Tuesday.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., announced the President's request will be taken up in the House Monday.

If no progress is made toward a settlement, Johnson notified Congress he would submit a proposal for legislation to cope with this one case. White House officials were unwilling to talk, however, in terms of compulsory arbitration.

A 45-day extension added to the present one would run to June 17.

Johnson repeatedly has said a rail strike would be a national catastrophe, harmful to the nation's economy, health and the war effort in Vietnam.

White House Press Secretary George Christian repeated these views of the chief executive again today.

Johnson called in congressional leaders of both parties from the Senate and House, and the ranking members of the Senate Labor and House Commerce committees.

Altogether, 14 members of Congress met with Johnson, along with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Undersecretary of Labor James Reynolds, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Attorney General Ramsey Clark and Transportation Secretary Alan Boyd.

Meanwhile, the six unions said in a telegram to McNamara that they were ready to meet with him "to arrange for continued rail transport of all shipments necessary to our nation's military effort and the public health" in the event of a strike.

Signatures For Library Vote At 461

Petitions seeking a referendum on Sausalito City Council's decision to finance a waterfront library through a lease-purchase plan already have more than the number of signatures required to force a referendum. W. Bruce Shafer, chairman of Sausalito Voters League, reported today.

The league was organized two weeks ago to force the referendum. At a meeting last night, Shafer reported that 461 signatures have been collected. He predicted the total may reach 1,000 by next week.

To force the referendum, the league needs only 10 per cent of the registered voters in the city, or about 300 signatures.

Deadline for filing petitions is May 10, but they will be filed with the city clerk on May 8, Shafer said. Of 72 petitions circulated, he noted, only 24 have been turned in to the league.

Satellites, Moons Put Into Orbit To Report On Sneak Atom Tests

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Two sentry satellites and three midget moonlets rode a Titan 3C rocket on a near perfect acrobatic course into a far-reaching orbit today to reinforce America's watch for sneak nuclear tests between Earth and Mars.

Besides patrolling space for bootleg blasts in violation of the nuclear test ban treaty, the twin "atomic detectives" may enhance the nation's ability to monitor secret atomic weapons tests in China.

The five satellites left earth on the nose of a powerful Air Force Titan. Four hours later, the rocket's third stage blasted its multiple payload out of a 43,500 mile high orbit into one ranging about 70,000 niles high.

All five spacecraft then separated from the spent Titan on their own, each humming a continuous stream of condition reports back to earth.

"Everything looks very good," said a spokesman at the launch control center.

The Titan's main job—now completed—was to place the nuclear detection satellites into the egg-shaped orbit from which they will maneuver into a circular path within three days.

The other three craft hitchhiked into the orbit to make scientific studies.

A Last-Minute Appeal to San Anselmans

Tomorrow is your Town Meeting. Any San Anselmo residents can attend. But nobody can force you. It's a free country.

Still, if you don't attend, there is one other thing you can do. Next time the conversation gets around to what's wrong with San Anselmo and what "they" should do, bite your tongue. Don't say a word. Talk about baseball or crabgrass or something. But please don't talk about what "they" should do.

Not when you didn't have time to talk about what you could do. Fair enough?

The April 13 fire killed the Greek-manned ship's skipper, his wife, and their young son. The victims were Capt. Gerassimos Antonatos, 35; his wife, Eugenia, 27, and Dimitros, 2½.

Powell's Downfall Finally Leads To Seating Of Ethics Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an ex-GI and former sports writer as its chairman, the bipartisan House Ethics Committee is now in business after years of clamor for its creation.

Adam Clayton Powell, whose activities were a major force that led to creation of the committee, lot a bid yesterday for a quick U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the constitutionality of the House vote that denied Powell his seat in Congress.

An Illinois Democrat, Melvin Price, 67, was chosen yesterday to head the group of six Democrats and six Republicans on the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct of House Members, Officials and Employees.

The Democratic Committee on Committees and the Republican Leadership Committee each chose its party's members.

All selections are subject to formal approval by the House Monday.

Caches Found Of Weapons

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Federal agents today planned to confiscate two more caches of weapons and ammunition owned by wealthy gun collector William Thoresen Ill.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Jerold Ladar said the agents were raiding undisclosed sites here and in Oakland. He added the amount of weapons and ammunition would be "realitively small" in comparison with the 70 tons confiscated in previous raids

Ladar also told newsmen: "I can say flatly there is no connection between Mr. Thoresen and the Central Intelligence Agency or any other security organization. There is no evidence that he is an agent of a foreign power."

Thoresen, son of a Chicago industrialist, surrendered to authorities Wednesday and was booked on a charge of illegal possession of automatic weapons. He was released on $55,000 bond but ordered to obtain a psychiatric examination.

Coppolino Jury Gives Doctor Guilty Verdict

Coppolino sat expressionless with his head in his hands as the verdict was delivered at 9:25 a.m. after less than four hours of jury deliberation.

Later Circuit Judge Lynn N. Silvertooth sentenced Dr. Coppolino to life imprisonment, the maximum penalty.

Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey moved immediately for a new trial and said if the motion was denied the case would be appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

After the jury foreman, 48-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

Applications must be filed by May 19, Sgt. J. C. Dukes, recruiting officer with the Marin office, announced yesterday.

The patrol will need 1,000 men between July, 1967, and July, 1968, Dukes said.

Young men will find reward and satisfaction in a career with the CHP, Dukes claimed. "Officers serve the public and engage in many humanitarian acts. You save a guy from jumping off the Golden Gate Bridge and you feel good about it."

FILED IN PERSON

Application can be obtained from any CHP office, State Department of Employment office, or from the San Francisco office of the State Personnel Board. They must be filed in person at the State Personnel Board office before 5 p.m. May 10 or mailed to the Scaramento office by midnight, May 19.

With expansion of the CHP, chances for promotion are excellent, Dukes said. New officers also have a better chance of being assigend to their home county, he reported.

Applicants must be from 21 to 31 years of age, at least five feet nine and not taller than six feet six with proportionate weight, not less than 20/40 vision in each eye correctable to 20/20, and have the equivalent of a high school education.

NO EXPERIENCE

"No prior police experience is necessary," Dukes said. The examination, "open to all without regard to race, religion or ancestry," will be held in San Francisco June 17.

The written examination is based on general intelligence, not on knowledge of law enforcement procedures, Dukes said. There also are a personal interview, a physical performance test, and vision test.

Starting salary for officers is $614 a month and each officer is considered for annual increases up to a top of $746. Those assigned to motorcycle duty receive an additional $3.26 for each day on such duty.

Successful applicants are placed on the eligible list, and appointments to the patrol are made form this list, Dukes said. "The wait isn't as long as it used to be," he added.

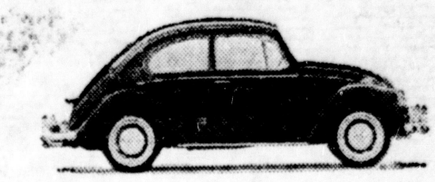
Novato Street Fund Discussed

Whether to submit a $1,156,000 street overlay program to the voters in a bond issue or do the work on a 15-year pay-as-you go plan was discussed last night by the Novato City Council's public works committee.

The committee, composed of Councilmen William Jack Adams and Harley McAskill, met with City Mgr. J. Julien Baget and Public Works Director Lawrence A. Coleman to review the proposed budget for fiscal 1968.

The budget includes a $50,420 item for street outlay and $12,000 for street patching materials. Coleman said this would be the first year's outlay if all streets were overlaid on a continuing basis. He warned the work will become increasingly expensive.

The committee reached no decision.



$199 down* will set the wheels in motion.

And a bug sized payment each month will keep them going. ($51.95 a month, for 36 months.)

Union Leader Taken To Plane

AGANA, Guam (AP) — Guamanian police tonight escorted Rolland Weller, head of Operating Engineers Union Local 3, to a Pan American plane and saw that he and his family took off for Honolulu and San Francisco.

Police said Weller, 37, who came to Guam from San Francisco about five months ago, "had been in a lot of trouble" and they wanted to "get him off the island."

Authorities in territorial court at Agana yesterday filed charges accusing Weller of "vagrancy, specifically molesting and annoying children; disturbing the peace, specifically, the use of obscene and profane language, and disturbing the peace, specifically, offensive conduct."

Co. in Richmond.

His big chance to get into the boating business came in the early post-war years when he teamed with partner Clifford M. Pedersen to produce a plywood clipper sloop.

This was the beginning. The partners built 20 of the boats, moved all operations to Sausalito, bought their first piece of Marinship, and Clipper Yacht Co. was launched.

PROPOSED EXPANSION

Recently, Morgan and his partner proposed a $5 million scheme for expanding the yacht harbor.

A keen pleasure sailor, he often raced in clippers on Tomales Bay close by his home at Camino del Mar, Inverness, where he lived with his wife, Margaret, and children, Sharon, and Kathleen, 11.

Morgan was a member of Sausalito City Council from 1954 to 1958. He was vice-commodore of the San Francisco Yacht Club, and rear commodore of the Inverness Yacht Club. He was secretary of the Inverness Yacht Harbor and a member of the Sausalito Yacht Club and the now-extinct Richardson Bay Yacht Club.

He was appointed to the State Yacht and Ship Brokers Commission by Fomrer Gov. Edmund G. Brown and re-appointed for a four-year term in January, 1966.

ROTARY PRESIDENT

He was president elect of the Sausalito Rotary Club and was to have taken office in June.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters; a sister, Phalba Elizabeth Morgan of Mill Valley and a brother, James F. Morgan of Tiburon.

Funeral will be Monday at 10 a.m. at Harry M. William Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be private.

Trio Nets $185,000; Flees Into Stakeout

MIAMI (UPI)—Three men robbed an armored car of more than $185,000 early today and drove straight into a stream of gunfire from 25 deputies and FBI agents. One holdup man was killed and a veteran sheriff's deputy was arrested.

The third man, believed wounded, escaped, tracked by dogs and helicopters. All the money taken fromthe armored truck was recovered.

The Dade County sheriff's department said it had received "information" that the armored car would be robbed when it picked up cash at the Turnpike Drive In Theater.

The area around the theater, where "Thunder Alley" was playing, was staked out before the truck arrived.

Three men jumped the two truck guards and a film delivery man in the theater's concession office. The bandits then drove the armored truck to a corner of the theater lot and looted it, transferring the money to a car.

The deputies and agents, hidden in the shrubs, waited until the money was transferred to the car. Then an officer yelled for the men to get out of the car with their hands showing.

Someone fire a shot from the car and the theater lot becane a no man's land of gunfire.

One blast from a police 12-gauge shotgun smashed open the car's windshield and ruptured the driver's face. He died instantly. The two other men inside squirmed out and ran. One was grabbed, the other got away.

The man arrested in the lot was an eight year veteran of the sheriff's department, Robert Earl Walker, 37. He was taken to Dade County Jail under "close custody."

The dead man was Ollie Fred Waldrip, 26, an airlines worker who lived at Hialeah.

Assembly Dumps Medi-Cal Plan

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly — at the urging of Speaker Jesse M. Unruh — today rejected the Senate's solution to the fiscal problems of California's Medi-Cal aid program — plunging the huge plan into a possible crisis.

The lower house refused to accept Senate amendments to a bill designed to permit State Controller Houston I. Flournoy to make aid payments after midnight Sunday. The vote was 27 ayes to 39 noes — far short of the two-thirds majority of 54 needed for approval.

12 Feared Dead In Plane Crash

YOKOSUKA, Japan (UPI) — A U.S. Navy P3A turboprop plane ditched in the sea today off Tushima Island in southern Japan. A Navy spokesman said all 12 men aboard were presumed dead.

The spokesman said an American-Japanese search and rescue unit failed to find any trace of the lost crew.

He said rescue operations would continue but "all 12 crewmen are presumed to have died in the mishap."

Burglars Get Students' Car Stereo Sets

Auto stereophonic set burglars struck twice Wednesday at cars parked near College of Marin, sheriff's officers reported today.

Ronald H. Hiller, a student of 180 Washington Street, Novato, told deputies his vehicle, parked off Kent Avenue was apparently entered by slipping a wire along a window, then unlocking the door. Taken were a $90 stereophonic set, two speakers worth $20, and three stereophonic tapes.

Another student, Alfonso A. Bongio of 2157 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, said the left ventilator window of his car, parked off Hillside Avenue, was broken and his $50 stereophonic set and five tapes worth $30 were stolen.

Officers said burglars entered St. Vincent's School for Boys in Marinwood early Wednesday nad stole two portable television sets and a portable sewing machine. No forced entry was evident.

Mrs. Lorna M. Tognoli, 507 Adrian Way, Santa Venetia, reported that intruders entered and stole two portable television home to loot piggy banks of about $4 in children's bedrooms.

coincidence, used similar language in assessing the general's speech:

"He laid it on the line."

The comparatively low-keyed speech—lacking any call for more troops or any renewal of his earlier criticism of antiwar demonstrators—was still attacked by some "doves."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D. again charged, as he did on the Senate floor earlier in the week, that Westmoreland's appearance before Congress while the fighting was in progress was an Administration ploy to stifle dissent.

Westmoreland kept strictly to his role as a soldier. He made no mention of negotiations or peace terms—questions that have traditionally been the province of the civilians in government, not the military men under them.

Besides government officials, many of the nation's governors were present for the speech. They were here for a rare private session with Westmoreland at a White House lunch following the congressional appearance.

This was viewed as another Administration move to solidify support for the troops in combat, by hearing the reasoning from the top commander's own mouth.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas agreed with Westmoreland's assessment. Gov. Mills Godwin of Virginia, a Democrat, said if the nation could not accept what Westmoreland had to say, there was "no one else to whom we can turn."

Westmoreland noticeably omitted any repetition of his Monday remarks in New York suggesting that protesters were unpatriotic and helping the Communists. But he hit hard at unity behind the troops.

He said the Communists are "far from quitting" and that they believe "our Achilles heel is our resolve."

Westmoreland declared at the windup of his speech: "Backed at home by resolve, confidence, patience, determination and continued support, we will prevail in Vietnam over Communist aggression."

Shortly before going to Capitol Hill, Westmoreland made some relatively minor changes in the text of his speech issued last night. The revisions, however, did not change the main thrust of the address—stressing a call for unified home support of GI's in combat.

Child Slayer Gets New Trial

A 5-2 decision by the State Supreme Court yesterday declared Pennington was entitled to have had a sanity hearing at the first trial.

The court said there was "substantial evidence" he was not competent to assist in his own defense in the trial for the Jan. 7, 1965 slaying in Imperial County of Brenda Sue Sayers, aged 10.

Of more than 400 replies, Reed said, only 15 gave the Hub City's recreation facilities a high rating. Ninety rated them good, but 101 called them average, 95 said below average and 57 said poor.

The only public city facilities to get a lower rating were street lighting and street repair, Reed said.

San Anseomo's downtown commercial and business area is due some sharp pointers from keynoter Siden, whose slides and comments are intended to stimulate the exchange of ideas in the subsequent panel session.

Beautificiation, Siden said todays, is good business. "Of all the factors determining a city's growth," he said, "the most important is appearance." Barren parking lots, shoddy shop fronts, an air of neglect can hurt a community badly, he said.

While Siden intends to demonstrate the good also, the audience can expect photographs of peeling paint, tattered awnings and examples of the garish.

Each discussion group will start with a presentation by a panel of speakers, but comments, questions and suggestions from the audience, which can circulate from panel to panel, will be welcome, said Congress chairman Reed.

At the end of the two-hour discussion period, each panel group is to agree on four recommendations for the improvement of San Anselmo. These will be reported when participants reassemble in the theater.

Recommendations will be forwarded to appropriate government bodies in the ensuing weeks, Reed said, and a watchdog committee formed by the Congress of Community Progress to follow up results achieved.

A $1 registration fee will be charged for the 1 to 5:30 p.m. meeting.

On the discussion panels will be:

CITY GOVERNMENT AND TAXES — Mrs. John Barrows of the Central Marin League of Women Voters, chairman; Ralph Anderson of the League of California Cities; Mill Valley Councilman Michael Wornum, and Robert N. Heyer, Field Research Corporation vice president and former chairman of Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

WAR

mese troops massed above the DMZ to five divisions and braced for some of the heaviest fighting of the war.

Marine reinforcements flew into the Hill 861 area today despite a shortage of helicopters while artillery, fighter-bombers and giant B-52 bombers pounded the strategic height.

While the tempo of the border fighting increased the Viet Cong radio called for a two-day cease-fire starting May 23, the birthday of Buddha. The Saigon government previously had offered a one-day truce.

The Americans have agreed—reluctantly—to go along with the truce and presumably will halt their bombing of North Vietnam during that period. Bad weather yesterday cut American attacks to 48 missions (about 200 planes) and the airmen concentrated on deadly North Vietnam air defenses. A spokesman said they knocked out three anti-aircraft sites and damaged five others.

Spilsted Heads Fall Arts Fete

Association members will tour Old Mill Park Saturday at 1 p.m. They previously voted to hold the festival there this year, but some members question whether it should be shifted from Boyle Park.

STATE'S ABORTION BILL PASSES TEST

Beilenson Bill Sent To Senate Floor After Close Judiciary Committee Vote

The action of the Senate Judiciary Committee followed the legislative session's most emotional hearing—involving one of the most controversial bills ever presented in the California Legislature.

Some 600 people jammed the committee room and another 200 spilled into the hallways outside.

GROANS AND CHEERS

There were a few groans from opponents when the voice vote was announced, but supporters cheered the bill they had been pushing since 1961.

The voice sent the bill to the Senate floor with Senate President Protem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, earlier had said:

"It probably will be approved."

The measure would permit physicians to perform abortions if a continuation of the pregnancy would impair the physical or mental health of the mother; if there was a risk the child would be physically or mentally defective; or if the pregnancy was the result of rape or incest.

A committee of hospital physicians would have to approve.

LEADS OPPOSITION

At present an abortion is legal in California only if a board of physicians decides it is necessary to save the life of the mother.

Doctors opposed each other and religious leaders argued back and forth during the debate. The Roman Catholic Church led the opposition.

Opponents warned that a class of "abortion doctors" would be created. Advocates replied that mothers were being forced to give birth to deformed infants or unwanted products of rape or incest.

A key issue: When does life begin, at birth, conception or somewhere in between?

OWN INDIVIDUALITY

Catholic Bishop Alden J. Bell of Sacramento said the fetus has "its own distinct individuality." He pleaded for "the voiceless, voteless minority that comprises the children yet unborn."

Balancing the scales between the mother and the child, the bishop said, "a child not yet born should have a right to live and the mother who has had life is inclined by instinct to sacrifice on behalf of the children."

"All abortions, the taking of human life, is wrong," he said.

"The great majority of the people do not consider the fetus a human child," said the author of the bill, Sen. Anthony Beilenson, of Beverly Hills, 34-year-old father of three.

GERMAN MEASLES

Proponents showed slides of deformed children whose mothers had been stricken with German measles. The disease causes deformities 15 per cent of the time if the mother is afflicted in the first three months of pregnancy, doctors testified.

During a German measles epidemic in 1964 and 1965, mothers with the disease "simply refused to take the material risk of a deformed infant," said Dr. Edmund W. Overstreet, of the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco.

"Pushed by their frantic demands, physicians all over California . . . simply had to engage in civil disobedience of a law from which they could get no legislative relief," he said.

Nine San Francisco physicians have been accused by the state of unprofessional conduct for performing abortions on prospective mothers with German measles.

OKS AMENDMENTS

Overstreet said that under the provisions of Beilenson's bill, some 1,000 to 1,500 therapeutic abortions a year would be performed in California. Under the present stringent law some 500 are performed each year, he said.

Beilenson agreed to amendments to win enough support to push the bill out of committee.

The major one forbids abortion after the 20th week of pregnancy. Another added one more physician to the two-man abortion committee Beilenson proposed. Their vote would have to be unanimous.

In the case of rape or incest, hospital medical staffs could not approve abortions unless the district attorney was notified of the case. He would have to decide if either crime had taken place.

State Water Project Needing More Money

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's huge $1.7 billion State Water Project may require still greater funds to insure completion, forecasts the state's new water resources director.

But this eventuality should be no cause for alarm, William R. Gianelli declared yesterday in a talk to the Irrigation Districts Association.

Gianelli said a task force studying the statewide project will turn over a report to him and Gov. Reagan in a few days.

A major reason for increased costs, he said, is because in the original financing in 1960 "no provisions were made for escalation of prices during the construction years."

Another problem, he said, lies in the problem to secure additional water for Southern California.

The written history of spinach began in China when it was introduced from Nepal in 647. Old records indicate that Moors carried spinach from North Africa to Spain about 1100.

DESERT WIND FLIPS A PLANE

A gust of wind flips Willard Clark's airplane from the McCarran Airport runway in Las Vegas and it nosed into the front porch of a nearby house. Clark, 59, of Hemet (Riverside County), suffered minor head injuries. The house was not occupied. The winds yesterday forced cancellation of part of the day's International Exposition of Flight. Changes In Disability Law Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's multimillion-dollar disability insurance law should be revised to assure the fellow with a steady job who is hit by injury or illness the same aid as a seasonal employe.

That was one recommendation made yesterday in a report by a legislative committee that investigate the program after the legislature was forced to emergency action two years ago to keep the program running.

TAXES ON WAGES

The program is financed by taxes on workers' wages. Last year it paid out $220 million to about 600,000 persons laid off work by injury or illness suffered while not on the job.

The committee report said "the benefit formula as now constructed discriminates heavily against year-around workers as compared to seasonal and intermittent workers."

This is because the working period used to figure out how much of the maximum $80 weekly benefit a person is eligible for doesn't take into account that a seasonal worker makes more money in a brief time than the steady job-holder.

KEEP SOLVENT

Another recommendation urged that the legislature set up procedures so that the program will keep itself solvent and not have to be rescued by injection of new money.

One way to do this would be to require that the year-end balance in the disability fund be as close as possible to 15 per cent of the amount paid out that year. The director of the program also should be given stronger authority, the committee recommended.

Novato Fire Arson Probe

What at first thought to be an accidental fire may be listed as attempted arson at the laundromat at 900 Grant Avenue, Novato, according to Novato police.

Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, Novato, owner of the building, yesterday reported to police that he felt that the fire in a cardboard box between 2:30 and 3 p.m., Monday was attempted arson.

The fire was put out by Ernest L. Zunino of 1310 Vallejo Avenue, Novato, who owns Zunino's Shoe Repair adjacent to the self-service laundry. A woman told Zunino she smelled smoke. Zunino found a cardboard packing box, with several match boxes in it, on fire in the back room in back of the driers. He doused it with water.

McCarthy Schedules Bridge District Talks

A conference of legislators and officials representing counties within the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will be held in Sacramento on May 15, State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, announced today.

The conference, called by Senator McCarthy, is set for 9:30 a.m. in Room 3189 of the State Capitol.

Purpose, McCarthy said, is to discuss the future of the bridge district and its role in solving the transportation needs of Marin and other north coast counties.

"Several conflicting legislative measures regarding the bridge district have been introduced this session," he noted. "I feel that we can no longer afford to pursue divergent courses of action."

Invited to participate in the discussion are representatives from the Golden Gate Bridge District board, supervisors of San Francisco, Marin, and other interested counties, and the following legislators:

Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael; San Francisco Senators J. Eugene McAteer and George R. Moscone; Assemblymen Willie Brown Jr., John L. Burton, Charles W. Meyers, and John F. Foran; Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka; Assemblyman Frank P. Belotti of Eureka; and Assemblywoman Pauline Davis of Portola.

Richard Zettel, director of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, and E. R. Foley, chief engineer of the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, will brief the group on current Bay Area transportation studies.

High Times Distribution To Be Viewed

The San Rafael Board of Education is scheduled to receive a plan for distribution of High Times, a countywide student newspaper, at high school campuses at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Administration Building, Third and E streets.

Earlier this year, the board received demands that distribution be prohibited or the newspaper placed under jurisdiction of the district.

The board also is scheduled to receive salary proposals from the San Rafael Teachers Association and the Marin County Federation of Teachers.

The citizens finance advisory committee is scheduled to make a progress report on its sutdies.

Board members also are scheduled to discuss a proposed policy on complaints against staff members and act on revision of the sabbatical leave policy.

Registration For Summer School Set

Registration for summer school in the Larkspur School District will be May 6 at Neil Cummins School.

Sixth and seventh grade students will register from 9 to 10 a.m., and third through fifth grade students will register from 10 a.m. to noon. The summer session will run from June 21 to July 21.

Breakfast Meeting By Reed Trustees

Reed School district trustees will meet at 8 a.m. tomorrow at Tiburon Lodge, Tiburon, for a breakfast discussion meeting.

Items for discussion include the "Middle School" plan, special district programs; expansion of existing programs; individualized instruction; team teaching and non-grading, curriculum construction and evaluation.

Library Friends Name Committee

A five-man steering committee to plan organization and a program for friends of Mill Valley Public Library was named last night at the first meeting of the group, reported Mrs. Helen Dreyfus, chairman of the library board of trustees.

Named to the committee were Robert Westberg, chairman, Mrs. Clement Hurd, Mrs. Gordon Foster, S. J. Rice and Mrs. John Miller.

A second meeting of the group will be held on May 18 at 8 p.m. in the library gallery.

About 40 persons attended last nights meeting, Mrs. Dreyfus reported.

Bolinas Lagoon Study On Planning Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will discuss progress on the Bolinas Lagoon studies prompted by the Bolinas Harbor district's plans for a marina.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. The Bolinas Lagoon studies are scheduled as item 16 on the agenda. Right after that, the commission is to consider Muskrat Corp.'s proposal for an 11-unit development on 15.5 acres on the north shore of the lagoon, within the area of a zoning freeze and within the area of shoreline the county hopes to buy.

Item two on the agenda is consideration of a Muir Beach zoning study and the rezoning asked by Dunya Chernenko from agricultural to multiple residential for her lot at the southeast end of the development.

Item five will be consideration of Don McCoy's request to allow use of a hangar at Commodore Helicopter, Inc., at Waldo Point for a concert hall, recreation center and meeting room.

Item nine is further consideration of an ordinance amendment to allow trailer parks in the county. Item 14 is consideration of Board of Supervisors' request for reconsideration of zoning at Shoreline Highway and Pinehill Road in Tamalpais Valley, and item 17 is consideration of a six-year capital improvement program for the county.

Synagogue Expansion Is Protested

The Marinwood Community Services District Board voted last night to ask county supervisors to reject expansion plans of Congregation Kol Shofar on Juniperberry Drive because of traffic problems.

Directors, by 4-0 vote, agreed to write a letter to be presented when the supervisors on May 9 consider plans for a synagogue, classrooms and social hall on a 20-acre site at the north end of the road.

The board feared insufficient parking would entangle traffic on Juniperberry, a dead-end street, and block police and fire vehicles in an emergency.

About 20 residents of the area appeared at last night's meeting, most of them objecting to the expansion, reported Mrs. Genevieva Boulding, secretary.

The county planning commission on april 17 recommended amendment of the Marinwood master plan to allow the development. Members of the planning staff had opposed the change.

The directors set aside the end of the pedestrian path off Quietwood Drive as a picnic area. It also submitted to the Upper Lucas Valley Homeowners Association an offer of $35 a month for maintenance of grounds in the area. The homeowners said they would consider the bid.

Director Rudolph Lang Jr. was absent.

State Officials To Participate School Session

Supt. Milton S. Cohen told the Larkspur School District board last night that two state education officials and two state legislators will take part in the district's pre-school conference for teachers Sept. 5-8.

Cohen said Dr. Daniel A. Collins of the State Board of Education; Dr. Ronald Cox, associate superintendent of public instruction; state Sen. John F. McCarthy, and state Assemblyman William T. Bagley, both of San Rafael, have agreed to take part in the conference.

The Larkspur School district board also:

FIELD TRIP — Heard a report on a field trip to Sacramento, and a tour of the legislature, made by all district eighth grade students April 13.

FIREWORKS — Approved Corte Madera's request to use Neil Cummins School for a fireworks display July 4.

CURRICULUM — Heard a report on individualized instruction from curriculum coordinator Mrs. Willi Fitch.

Marincello Referendum Falls Short

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ruled a Marincello access road referendum petition fell 74 signatures short of legality.

In a memorandum formally denying the petition, Judge Wilson noted that as certified by the county clerk, it had been 316 short of the required number of legal signatures, but that during lengthy hearings he had restored 242 signatures rejected by the clerk's office.

The judge, who had indicated March 21 that he would uphold the county clerk's ruling that too many signatures failed to meet legal petition requirements.

Yesterday's memorandum repeated this, declaring the court should not substitute its individual judgment for that of the clerk where the clerk's rejection is reasonable and not arbitrary.

"Although the clerk did reject names for reasons which the court felt were legally improper," the judge wrote, "these names were restored and there is no evidence of unreasonable conduct on the part of the clerk in refusing to identify signatures."

The decision kills the effort of Golden Gate Headlands Committee to force a referendum on the road, first development in Marincello approved by the county board of supervisors.

Teach-In Set On Health For Friday

A "teach-in" on mental health, sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health at San Francisco Theological Seminary, will be held next Friday and not May 6 as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The program, to start with dinner at 6:30 p.m. in Albert Hall, will include group discussions led by educators, social workers, mental health specialists and civic leaders, most of them from Marin.

Still Too Early To Predict Late Economic Picture

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says it still is too early to predict accurately the economic picture for late 1967.

William H. Shaw, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, said although the nation's economy has improved over the last few weeks, statistics covering several months are required for a definitive picture of the future.

The Johnson administration contends the economy will expand during the second half of the year, requiring increased taxes to stem inflationary pressure.

Shaw told a news conference Thursday 10 of 29 leading indicators of future activity pointed up last month while 19 pointed down.

Monticello Park Costs Corrected

Recreation Director Andrew J. Synder of San Rafael proposed an additional $50,000 for Montecito Park. Through a typographical error, the amount appeared as $500,000 in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The amount for sidewalk, play and drainage work at Gerstle Park was $5,000 not $8,500 as reported, Snyder said.

Different Person

Florence Rose Nichols of 191 Canal Street, San Rafael, who was fined $289 last Friday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving Feb. 1, is not the same person as Florence Rose Nichols of 45 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, designer of artificial flower arrangements.

Control Plan For Sewage Draws Foes

A bill before the State Assembly, which would transfer local sewage disposal control from Marin County to the state, has drawn opposition from the Marin Property Owners Association.

AB 165, under discussion in legislative hearings, would put sewage control in the hands of the state-appointed Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board, association manager Melvin J. Rupp said at Thursday's meeting of the organization.

The association, Rupp reported yesterday, then took the stand that "officials of Marin County are capable of regulating . . . sewage disposal and can far better determine" what methods of disposal are most desirable for the county.

President Alfred J. Bianchi urged members to attend a public luncheon meeting on regional government May 11 at Peacock Gap Country Club.

The association called for raising the ceiling on federal appropriations to complete purchase of Point Reyes National Seashore land as quickly as possible, Rupp reported.

Warning Made By Mrs. Lucheta

A story in yesterday's Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that Mrs. Harry W. Lucheta had charged the county government with breaking a promise by diverting funds earmarked for Veterans Memorial Auditorium to the general fund.

Mrs. Lucheta, chairman of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, said she actually was warning council members that the state might divert money now in a special fund for support of fairs in the state.

This, Mrs. Lucheta said, might make it more difficult for the county to obtain the $1.2 million in matching funds promised during the Brown Administration for development of the auditorium and county fairgrounds at Civic Center.

Mrs. Lucheta was reporting to the council on her recent trip to Sacramento, where the Assembly Committee on Government Organization was holding a hearing on a bill to enable such fund diversion.

Senior Citizen Nominations Due

Deadline for nominations for 1967 Senior Citizen of the Year is May 8, Edward Ryken of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council has announced.

Eight candidates have been nominated. Candidates must be Marin residents 60 or older who have made an outstanding contribution to the county in the past year, Ryken said.

The winner will be announced May 25 at a luncheon for nominees given by the Senior Coordinating Council at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Bear Valley Hike

The Marin Audbon Society will hold a nine-mile hike to Bear Valley, open to the public, on May 20. The trip starts at 9 a.m. at Olema, and will be led by Dudley Hubbard of Mill Valley.

The Value of a Spiritual Outlook

"vision"

Every day we depend on "vision" that goes beyond what our eyes see. The challenge is always to find a greater vision — a deeper spiritual perception — that will guide mankind's progress, and lift men everywhere into their heritage as children of God. Hear this one-hour public lecture on "The Value of a Spiritual Outlook" by PAUL A. ERICKSON, C.S.B., member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

La Petite Auberge's Alcove Dining Area Offers Intimacy

There are some changes of note at La Petite Auberge, San Rafael, and one of these in particular is bound to please you.

This is in the alcove toward the Fourth Street side off the main dining room — now completely remodeled. If once this area was looked upon as a secondary choice for seating that is no longer true. There is more woodwork, a different ceiling and air conditioning.

Personally I find this to be preferable to the main dining room in some respects. It offers more intimacy and a splendid outlook over the tables to take stock of who's there. A sideline retreat, you might say. Of course this room will still be used at times for small gatherings. Old timers will remember it as part of the original dining quarters when Paul Devanx first went in here. That's when the open roof patio (now the main dining room) was used only in fair weather.

There's a new face at La Petite's bar these days — that of Carl Graf, who lives in San Francisco and has mixed drinks at some of that city's best lounges and restaruants. I'm told his nationality is a combination of Swedish, Russian, German and French. He is fluent in Russian and also very proficient in his French.

Before you knock yourself out trying to remember where you have seen him before, let me save you time and trouble. He looks like a young and tall Richard Widmark — particularly when he smiles.

Ken Judnick has settled nicely into his role of La Petite's roving accordionist. His smile shows that he likes prople, and people seem to like him and his music which covers a wide range of popular and classical selections. Even Hawaiian, if you should call for it.

And if you can't decide what to order from a sumptious menu, here are two suggestions that will never steer you wrong: The veal cordon bleu and the entrecote marchand de vin.

A SONOMA COUNTY DINERY which has been on the approved list of Bay Area residents for a number of years has been sold. This is Chef Cardini's Restaurant at Glen Ellen, in the heart of the Valley of the Moon.

The new owners are William and Marie Colling of Glen Ellen and Albert Opisso of San Francisco. One of our Marin County real estate brokers, R. M. (Bob) Rivers, made the sale. The price was said to be $100,000 for land, buildings and business.

Jack Cardini, long a Bay Area restaurateur, established the popular dining and cocktail rendezvous at the entrance of Jack London Park some years ago, on a site once occupied by what early timers may remember as Buck's Place. Chef Cardini achieved a degree of fame from his appearance on a television show in the early 1950s where he instructed viewers in the preparation of special dishes.

In recent years he has reportedly been in ill health and it is believed he may move to the coast and indulge in a little fishing.

New co-owner Albert Opisso formerly operated the old Vineburg Inn on Napa Road which was destroyed by fire several years ago and he is recognized as a top chef. Mrs. Colling, a native Sonoman, has been associated with both Marin and Sonoma dining spots in the past.

The new name will be London Lodge, and after some remodeling a reopening should be within a few days. The new owners also have plans for a 20-unit motel the two-acre site. Continuing service will be given in catering for banquets, buffets, luncheons, receptions, sales meetings, dinner dances, cocktail parties and club and lodge affairs.

SAY WHAT YOU PLEASE the food at McKee's Hof Brau in San Rafael is pretty hard to beat for wholesomeness and being well prepared — and that goes for both lunch and dinner.

If you don't mind going up to the counter to be served — and this is one place most people don't, it looks so good — you can come out very reasonable. The fact is, for dinner you should be able to get all you can eat for considerably under $3 — including all the extras. Among the selections on Don Caseldine's sumptuous array of food will be found delicious pastrami, corned beef, German sausages with sauerkraut, stuffed peppers, stuffed pork chops, roast pork, roast turkey and many others ranging from $1.20 to $1.85 — so that still leaves a good margin for extras and remain under the $3 figure. All of these won't necessarily be on the menu every day, but there's always a toothsome choice.

Businessmen like McKee's for lunches during the day — and so do the ladies. Ask my wife. It's one of her favorite places.

TWO OUT OF THREE of the last dinner meetings of the Bacchus Society have been in Marin, which speaks well for this county's dinery attractions.

Last Monday the society, a group of professional food men and their non-professional counterparts, all with gourmet tastes — gathered once more at Gregory's in Corte Madera.

It is worthy of note that none of them had any trouble finding the place on Paradise Drive, even if some members of the general public profess to have difficulties in locating it.

I'll admit that Gregory's menu for the evening, which he prepared himself in toto, was not one you'll find in everyday service there — though from time to time some of these dishes do find their way to his tables. But if you want to form your own gourmet society maybe he'll offer you somethig like this: Pate forrestiere in aspic, mousse of trout with sauce aromatique, sherry consomme with liver dumplings, veal tenderloin a la Oscar — all preceded by appropriate hors d'oeuvres of smoked eel, smoked goose and beef Tartare and followed by Liptauer cheese, bananas and pumpernickel. Appropriate aperatifs and dinner wines, of course.

FOSTER FREEZE DRIVE-IN at 1908 Fourth Street, San Rafael was closed this week for remodeling, but will be open again next week even though a few things remain to be done. Grand opening is about two weeks away.

Dining room will give seating for about 32 more people and some hot dishes will be featured in addition to the regular fountain and drive-in specials. Everything is much better arranged, says owner Hugh Wilcox.

JUST TO PIQUE your curiosity, negotiations have been under way for the purchase of Farallon East at Stinson Beach. Two well known Sausalito restaurateurs are involved, but since there's many a slip in transactions like this, let's wait another week or so before releasing all the details. If the deal goes through, the place should be reopened at an early stage of fair weather under a new name.

QUAN LIN OF MARIN, quartet bar and Chinese restaurant project of Joe Scotto, Angelo Camilleri and Al and Joe Louie, is celebrating its grand opening tonight.

Arraignment Held On Bogus Checks

Maurice Lewis Margolis, 57, of 31 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of passing worthless checks totaling $155 Jan. 10-27. He is to enter plea May 11.

Margolis is accused of passing the checks at Bottle Shop in Tiburon and Village Liquors in Strawberry.

Teller Predicts New Test Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward Teller, sometimes called the "father of the hydrogen bomb," now believes a ballistic missile defense can be set up without above-ground nuclear testing.

But, he told the American Physical Society's spring meeting yesterday, "it remains true that the best method of investigation would be atmospheric testing."

Teller also said he believes the United States should deploy a ballistic missile defense system which, he noted, some of our government officials claim "is futile because any defensive effort may be frustrated by a cheap increase of attacking forces."

PACIFISTS TO PROTEST

Four American pacifists, including Phil Drath of San Rafael, were to see White House and State Department officials today in an attempt to save their passports. All were crew members of the yacht Phoenix which delivered a $10,000 cargo of medical supplies to North Vietnam last month in defiance of U.S. authorities. Carl P. Zietlow, 36, of Chicago, one of the group, displays a "lazy dog" anti-personnel bomb which he said was given to him by a North Vietnamese.

Drath Draws Few Sneers Before Explaining His Mission In Hanoi

By CAROL MARSH

"I'm the mother of a son in Vietnam and I am thrilled to sneer at you for what you've done, giving aid and comfort to the enemy!"

The speaker was a well dressed, gray-haired woman, who had waited in front of Olney Hall at College of Marin to accost Phillip Drath before he spoke to students yesterday on his recent trip to North Vietnam.

Drath stopped to hear what she had to say, but went past her into Olney Hall without answering. She entered with a group of five other women to listen, for the most part quietly, to his talk.

HIS ANSWER

Drath answered her, however, toward the end of his talk on his recent trip to North Vietnam. He held up an anti-personnel bomb, and said that American planes are dropping them on villages in the north.

He said when he visited hospitals there he saw a small girl whose spinal cord had been severed by an American anti-personnel bomb, and a young boy who was blinded by one.

"I blame Mr. Johnson," he said. "I blame the American people. I blame you." And turning toward the woman who had spoken to him of her son: "I blame you for the deaths of your own sons in Vietnam. I think you had better think about this war. It has to stop."

QUAKER HISTORY

Drath began by reviewing the history of the Quaker movement. He noted that Quakers have been against war, and determined to act in a way which would prevent war, since the Society of Friends was founded in 1650. He noted that Quakers had frequently found their actions to be against the law, as when they assisted the "Underground Railroad" before the Civil War.

He said he made his trip with a group of Quakers to North Vietnam because the Quakers decided to send medical supplies and aid to both South and North Vietnam. They were able to set up rest homes, schools and medical facilities in South Vietnam, but were prevented by the United States government from sending medical supplies to the North.

Of his personal history, he said he had been a conscientious objector in World War II, had set up a home for the Japanese who were put into concentration camps in California during the war to give them a place to which to return, and that 18 months ago he was in Mississippi helping to rebuild 27 churches that had been burned by the Klu Klux Klan. He said people have frequently thought his actions un-American.

The reason the United States is in Vietnam today, he said, is that "we are terribly afraid that China will develop economic control of that part of the world, upsetting our economic balance there. We are not afraid China will take over physically."

SECOND REASON

A second reason, he said, is "a paranoid fear of a Communist menace in the United States."

He said the Communists of North Vietnam are nationalistic first, and would fight a Chinese invasion just as hard as they are fighting the United States. "They're a proud people. They won't back down. And this may destroy them," he said.

He said every hospital and school in North Vietnam south of Hanoi has been bombed repeatedly, because hospitals and schools are the only structures big enough to look like factories. North Vietnam has no factories, he said.

NORTH'S BELIEFS

The people of North Vietnam, he said, believe that if the American people really understood the war, they would support the National Liberation Front and the North Vietnamese.

Drath said his group told the North Vietnamese they were wrong, that a "good percentage" of the American people support Johnson.

"We warned them what power the United States could bring against them, using atomic weapons, germ warfare, destroying their land, but they did not believe us," he said. "They did not believe the people of the United States would allow that."

Only Minor Injuries In Guard Rail Wreck

A driver, Richard John Murray, 26, of 845 Las Gallinas Avenue, Terra Linda, and his passenger suffered minor injuries today at 3:20 a.m. when his northbound car ran into a guard rail at the San Pedro Road off-ramp from Highway 101, according to California Highway Patrol.

Murray and his passenger, Vivienne Lee Szeles, 21, of 1 Andrews Court, Hamilton Air Force Base, refused hospitalization.

Injuries Minor

Harold Glen Lighty Jr., 43, of 5047 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, suffered minor injuries yesterday at 6:30 p.m. when his eastbound car swerved off Paradise Drive into a bank, near Marin Country Day School, Corte Madera. Lighty told California Highway Patrol he would see his own doctor.

Tomales Board Hears Small Schools Pitch

Small high schools can be as good as large high schools, if not better.

This was emphasized by Samuel B. Kermoian of San Francisco State College before the Tomales High School District board last night.

"A small high school has strengths that a large high school doesn't," he said. "It has spirit, closeness, informality and flexibility."

WHY COPY?

It is not necessary for a small high school to try to become a copy of a large high school, Kermoian said. "Indeed, the typical large high school doesn't necessarily offer a quality program."

One of the strongest points of a small high school is its flexibility and its ability to "try new things," he said. "A small high school using a traditional approach is, at best, a poor imitation of a large high school and has no reason to exist."

His comments came as he presented his preliminary draft of an educational program for the proposed new high school.

"The keynote of the program should be flexibility," he said. Among his recommendations were flexible scheduling, multiple classes, modified team teaching, and steps toward a non-graded school.

"There's no reason a student couldn't be given a correspondence course, a course by a visiting college professor or by a high school teacher on an individual basis," he said.

NEW SCHOOL

"What I'm proposing can't be done in this school," Kermoian asserted. "You need a new school."

He said he viewed the proposed new school as "a community school" and suggested that its library be designed so that it could be expanded into a community library, possibly consolidated with the county branch library.

Kermoian said the district could apply for a one-year federal grant to plan the curriculum. It could then apply for federal grants to implement the program, Supt. Anthony Matulich said.

Trustees agreed to send a letter of intent to apply for a grant after Kermoian noted that the deadline for letters is Monday. The deadline for filing an application is July 1, but the board's action hinges upon whether a $900,000 bond election for a new high school passes in an election June 6.

PLANS PRESENTED

Architect Richard C. Marshall reported on plans for the proposed new school on the Romeo Cerini property, east of the present school.

The plan includes a court area for students, a student center adjacent to the court, a gymnasium that could accommodate 500 persons for community events, four flexible classrooms that can double an auditorium for 200 persons, an amphitheater, and a cafeteria area that also can serve as a stage platform.

The board adjourned until May 11.

Unification Talks Tabled Due To Death Of Friend

A scheduled discussion of unification in the Tomales High School District was postponed last night because of the death of Shirley L. Morgan of Inverness yesterday.

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer and Judge David R. Baty, who oppose unification of elemenatry school districts with the high school district, had been invited to state their reasons for oppostion and offer their proposals. However, Judge Baty a close friend of Morgan, did not attend because of Morgan's death in an automobile accident in Sausalito.

Mrs. Jean Adams, a trutsee, reported that "the Bolinas-Stinson people also withdrew because of the accident."

Storer wrote that he could not attend because his schedule was filled.

A group of citizens, including residents of Bolinas and Stinson Beach, have launched a drive for a new high school district in West Marin, consisting of the West Mairn and Stinson Beach-Bolinas school districts.

Supt. Anthony Matulich read a letter from Storer saying that he was opposed to the overall Tomales unification plan because it has been rejected by the state several times, and was confident that a better unification plan could be devised.

Turstees agreed to invite Baty and Storer to speak at their next meeting, May 11 at 8 p.m. at Tomales High School.

Town Meeting Can Spur New Enthusiasm, Ideas

The San Anselmo Town Meeting questionnaire brought more than 400 reactions, ranging from polite pats on the back to bitter criticism of the Hub City.

Some of the more outspoken critics suggested that the downtown area be torn down and rebuilt from scratch.

While some of these outbursts were quite extreme, they nevertheless indicate that the people are concerned with the future well-being of the city.

We hope that their interest and concern will be reflected in a big turnout for tomorrow afternoon's Town Meeting, to be held at the Drake High School Little Theater.

Widening and landscaping of the Hub intersection have been major improvements. But anyone who is acquainted with San Anselmo will acknowledge that problems still exist.

Traffic congestion at the Hub continues to be an obstacle to the shopper.

San Anselmo is aware of these shortcomings. For years, it has struggled to come up with some plan to relieve traffic congestion and provide more offstreet parking, and at the same time receive community support.

Thus far, the city has been less than completely successful.

It is to be hoped that the problem of parking and traffic congestion will get thorough airing, along with the other topics set for discussion tomorrow.

We commend the San Anselmo Homes Assn., the Chamber of Commerce, and the Congress for Community Progress for giving the citizens an opportunity to express themselves.

The forum for expression is there. We trust that fresh viewpoints, fresh ideas, and new enthusiasm will come out of that town meeting to help solve problems that are impeding the growth of the Hub downtown area.

Litterbugs Are Killers

Not only are litterbugs performing an illegal act when they toss banana skins, apple cores, potato chip bags and assorted garbage out of car windows onto our Marin highways they are baiting a death trap for wild animals.

Wild creatures are attracted by these fragrances to venture onto highways which they would otherwise studiously avoid. Think of this the next time you are tempted by the simple garbage disposal system of the open car window.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

BRIGHT ANSWERS

This challenging question was asked of some children in London: "What would it be like if people had two heads?"

Designed to test the ability of the children to think originally, the question was responded to by the youngsters with creativity and imagination. Some of the answers were:

"If someone talked your head off, you would still have one left."

But, the newspaper noted, adults failed the test. They could not get beyond rigid, grown-up patterns.

The freshness with which a child sees God's creation—and the inventiveness he uses in his early efforts—should be an opportunity to every parent and teacher.

Seek to guide young minds, not into dull, stereotype thinking, but into a fuller realization of their potentialities. This is one means of sparking your own creativity as well.

"With upright heart he tended them, and guided them with skillful hand."
(Psalm 78:72)

Help me to see and encourage the early promise in children, O Lord.

Marin GOP To Woo Youth; Goldwater's Son Joins Campaign

By WAT TAKESHITA

MARIN REPUBLICANS, headed by Charles Michals, are making a concerted drive to attract young people to the Republican cause.

They've set up a Republican Youth Advisory Council, which will study ways to attract and hold the interest of the younger generation.

Takeshita

Kickoff meeting of the Youth Advisory Council is set for 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 10, in Room 222 of the San Rafael courthouse.

Michals has been stressing all along the importance of engaging the services of young people because "we are rapidly approaching the day when more than one-half of all Americans will be under 25 years of age."

The announcement that Michael Goldwater of Mill Valley, son of Barry Goldwater, has joined the youth advisory group, is an added boost to the GOP's "Operation New Blood."

OTHER MAJOR GOP events that are coming up:

On Saturday, May 13, Republican leaders from the entire First Congressional District will gather at Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa for a series of workshops on precinct work, candidates and campaigns, fund raising, and the role of county central committees.

On June 14, Marin will cosponsor a Ronald Reagan dinner at the Cow Palace, at $100 per plate. More than 100 from Marin are expected to join Republicans from the entire Bay Area for the big fund-raiser.

HOW IS THE State Consumer Counsel's Office going to function as a research organization working for the interest of consumers, on an abbreviated budget of only $28,000 per year?

Mrs. Kay Valory, consumer counsel, who is running the office with the help of one secretary, says it can be done. "We won't have to curtail our research; in fact, research will be augmented because the Governor has promised that his research staff will be made available to us."

With this help, and with volunteer help offered by business, labor and service organizations, she plans to turn out material to be used in consumer education. Dissemination of educational material will be through government and private agencies, and through the press.

IN THE CONTROVERSY over withholding of state income taxes, the Governor and Speaker Jesse Unruh differ by about $40 million on the amount of "escaped taxes" that can be picked up through withholding.

The Governor figures "escaped taxes" would amount to a measly $20 million. "This is money that would accrue to the state largely because citizens whose income is too low to be taxed would still have taxes withheld," says Governor Reagan. "Many of them would not then seek refunds. This means that this windfall would largely come from those least able to afford it."

Not so, says Unruh. The Speaker cites figures that show at least $60 million in escaped taxes per year, and probably more — from individuals and private firms like contracting outfits that come in for about six months and then leave the state without paying income taxes.

If $60 million or more can be picked up in escaped taxes, it certainly makes sense to collect those before imposing heavier income tax burdens on people who already pay faithfully.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

COMEDIENNE Joan Rivers tells of a disconcerting moment she had in the St. Louis airport. She overheard a man muttering, "If the good Lord had wanted man to fly, He'd have given him wings." "I looked closer at the fellow," concludes Joan. "It was our pilot!"

A DISTINGUISHED London club man named Ashley was frequently irritated by the gluttonous behavior of one fellow member. On being told that this gentleman had made a real pig of himself at a testimonial dinner, Ashley nodded. "Well, that would be a nice change."

A HARD-LUCK actor who appeared in one colossal disaster after another finally got a break. A broken leg, to be exact. A cruel contemporary pointed out that it's the first time in his career the poor fellow's been in the same cast for more than a week.

TO ONE OF the most ludicrously conceited producers in the film world a friend once confided, "My wife and I are thinking of cruising around the world this spring." "What do you want to do that for?" countered the producer. "Why don't you come out to Beverly Hills and have lunch with me?"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Reader Gives School Solution

Editor, Independent-Journal:

With the Tamalpais High School District again facing a critical classroom shortage, it is likely that Drake, this year and Redwood the next will be operating on some awkward system of split-sessions for all entering freshmen. Yet the only solutions that seem to be under discussion seem to center on a debate whether to build one or two more new High Schools.

Neither of these could possibly be built in time to relieve the continuing crises until 1969 at the earliest . . . and only if the voters will accept the proposals.

On the other hand, if the Tamalpais High School District were unified with all the small 'feeder' elementary districts, it would be much cheaper and faster simply to add a ninth grade class to all the existing intermediate schools, making the regular three-year junior high schools.

This would automatically eliminate one-fourth of the student population of all three high schools and would most likely eliminate the need for another high school for years to come.

Missed The Point Of Ciardi's Talk

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Point of information, please! Did the writer who reviewed John Ciardi's talk at the College of Marin on April 19 actually attend the event? If so, he got just as much from it as did the two grown women who played tic-tac-toe throughout it. Not only was the headline of the article misleading, but the text was not accurate.

Mr. Ciardi's main object was not to take a jab at educators, but to show that poetry can and must be fun. His remarks about educators were in support of this point, and were illustrations rather than declarations. As for the quotations used in the text of the article, the writer obviously took them out of context and could not even string them together in a coherent, intelligible manner.

Next time, please send a reviewer who is willing to listen.

Dog Woman Chase Story Criticized

Editor, Independent-Journal:

If the story April 20, about five Marin police officers in erratic, highspeed pursuit of a woman, (alleged), "dognapper" on Highway 101 at the commute hour Wednesday evening is not the product of the dramatic machinations of a hungry reporter, then certainly it is a flagrant example of impulsive police reaction in violence.

It is apparent within the story that opportunity for exercising judgment concerning a proper course of action was at hand, before the officers incited the fugitive to lead them into a wild dogchase, endangering their lives and those of the many homeward bound commuters. As a pet owner, I am certainly not in sympathy with the woman, if she does steal pets or valuable dogs from their owners. However, I believe the whole described chase placed the possibility of recovering the valuable dog, a supposed passenger in her car, in definite jeopardy.

Whether this shocking instance of irresponsibility can be attributed to the imagination of an Independent-Journal reporter with a lively urge to create unfavorable publicity for certain police officers—or, in fact is an attempt at light treatment of a serious incompetency among members of Marin County's law enforcement agencies—in my opinion a followup story of clarification is warranted.

Firemen Get Thanks For Helping Victim

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to express my sincerest thanks and appreciation to the firemen of Station No. 2 of the Montecito area of San Rafael, for the very quick response and very efficient handling of an emergency call for oxygen for my husband early Tuesday morning, April 4. They were absolutely wonderful, and the policeman who answered the call was very kind and efficient.

My deepest thanks to all in our time of need. My husband is greatly improved.

Working Class Must Speak Out

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have just come from an evening (Apr. 22) with Phil Drath and some 200 others in a church gathering for peace. It was both beautiful and pitiful.

I respect all sincere pacifists, religionists, socialists, communists and others trying now to save our country from looming disaster at the hands of outraged humankind. But all are wrong who blame Vietnam horrors on "Johnson" or "war hawks" and hope to end such with mere demonstrations and-or votes.

U.S. foreign policy is based first on the absolute need of dollar-imperialism to maintain rule over this nation while pushing for world rule. This system cannot exist without expanding investments and oppression.

The one basic force that can possibly stop or even slow down our rush toward world catastrophe is the fat, bribed, chained, drugged giant of American labor.

Only the power of America's working citizens, to use or withhold their brains and muscle, can feed or halt this "warfare state" machine. The time is now for the wisest and bravest lovers of our country to not only "stand up and be counted" but to speak and act —and first of all in the halls of organized labor, right at the local level.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I'm sorry this letter is so long overdue, but I'm just coming out of the state of shock caused by the enclosed picture! (Two women in brief costumes publicizing Tam Valley Improvement Club's "Rhubarb Revue." — Editor)

I had felt perfectly safe in letting my three grandsons — 6, 8 and 13 — look at the Independent-Journal, and as a former radio-newswriter, I encouraged their interest in the news.

I also assumed that the I-J being a local paper would cater to the interest and taste of the community.

I've only been in San Rafael eight months, but from my observation and talks with others I would conclude that the enclosed sensational publicity gives a very false impression of Marin County.

I thoroughly believe in "freedom of the press" but in this decadent age which so badly needs good leadership, I believe the Independent-Journal could show some courage and take responsibility for creating a new level of journalism that would surely bring rich rewards — not only financially, but also in terms of good will in the community and good thinking on the part of its citizens.

Ike Plans Active Role In '68 GOP Convention And Campaign

PALM SPRINGS — Republican Presidential candidates take note:

Do not assume that General Dwight D. Eisenhower will remain silently on the sidelines at the 1968 convention and refrain from making a personal choice for the nomination as he did in '64.

HERE IS WHAT is in the making:

Former President Eisenhower is not ruling out giving his open support to the man whom he thinks will make the best candidate and the most effective opponent of Lyndon Johnson.

There are three specifications which will weigh most with Ike and he would prefer them in balance: A candidate qualified for the job, a candidate who would not divide the party, a candidate who could get elected.

The General is in touch with all of the most discussed GOP contenders and they — wisely — are keeping in close and hopeful touch with him. Examples: Nixon counsels with Ike periodically. Romney is in frequent contact and his recent Vietnam speech was discussed with the General before it was put in final form. Reagan has been to see him several times.

Ike speaks spontaneously and warmly about Governor Ronald Reagan of California as a presidential prospect, but it is his understanding that Reagan is not now interested in and does not intend to go after the 1968 nomination, one reason being that he is committed to serve his full four-year term in Sacramento. The General does not view Reagan as an extreme conservative but as a practical man who wants to deal realistically with the state's acute problems.

IT IS MY impression that Ike sees it as probable that the Republican choice in 1968 will be between Romney and Nixon. I have the feeling that he intends to keep his yardstick (ability and electability) for measuring the best nominee in the forefront of his thinking and that this time he will not hesitate to align himself behind his own choice sufficiently ahead of the convention to make it count.

He is certainly not ruling out such a course. That is clear beyond any doubt. By deliberately leaving this course open, Ike is certainly adding greatly to the leverage he could exert and is serving notice on all the potential candidates that, if they want his support, they will be wise to stay within the framework of Eisenhower Republicanism.

Ike looks well; indeed, for a man of 76 years he looks extraordinarily well. He is animate, brisk, outgiving in conversation, eager to talk about nearly everything before, during, and since his eight years in the White House.

BUT IKE IS STILL in the process of recovering from his latest operation. Ike himself is willing, even eager, to travel abroad in behalf of the United States, as President Johson has requested, but this will have to wait until he has more fully recuperated and knows he can stand the strain.

There are numerous countries Ike is eager to visit and four he particularly has in mind (though these are not the limit of his special interest) are Pakistan, India, Vietnam, and Thailand. He would like to see the GIs in Vietnam and there is no doubt they would like to see him.

If Ike's recuperation keeps progressing, the trip which Johnson and he have talked over — which would certainly include Southeast Asia — might be timed for early or late fall. The General would not want it much later, because he wishes to keep it totally divorced from partisan politics. And as for politics, Ike is going to be very much involved in 1968.

Reds Bid To Form U.S. Peace Party

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—As early as last December, a select group of U.S. Communist leaders met in New York in secret session to hear Party Chairman Gus Hall say the time had come to work with anti-Vietnam and other groups to form a peace party. Hall made his pronouncement following a visit to the Soviet Union, where in late October he conferred for several days with Premier Brezhnev and Presidium members Mikhail Suslov and Boris Ponomarev.

Although there may be no links between these separate movements, they appear to be going in the same general direction—toward creation of a third party.

DEMOCRATIC HOUSE leaders, who are watching these developments, say the big question is whether the third party movements will merge, and if so, who will control and finance the new political force.

In that context the battle over the campaign subsidy will take place when it moves next month to the House from the Senate. Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, will seek to discover why certain proponents of "perfecting" the present law want to make it easier for third parties to finance their presidential campaigns.

In 1966 Representative Mills was the prime mover for a requirement that third parties obtain at least five million votes before they can dip into the proposed multi-million-dollar subsidy fund.

Originally, the Senate had set the figure at 1.5 million votes — a level that was an open invitation for the creation of minor parties.

THE WOMEN'S JOB CORPS center at Albuquerque, N.M., is the latest to be rocked by scandal. Miss Jo Culbertson, an instructor, has told Representative Edith Green, D-Ore., that another instructor was a known dope pusher and that classroom schedules were falsified. She also charged "illicit fraternization" between faculty members and students. . . .

A big chunk of anti-poverty funds goes for publicity purposes. OEO records show that around $2.4 million is spent by the agency to publicize its operations and to counter widespread criticism. . . . Director Sargent Shriver is the only top anti-poverty official still on the job since the multi-billion-dollar program was launched in late 1964.

THERE IS A GRIMLY ironic angle to those Soviet inquiries about bidding on the six giant turbines and hydro-electric generators required for expanding the Grand Coulee dam in Washington state.

In the 1920s, Colonial J. L. Cooper, a noted U.S. electrical engineer, was employed by the Kremlin to direct the construction of the first big power project undertaken by the Communists. It was on the Volga River near Odessa.

Cooper spent years in Russia on this and other jobs, in the course of which he trained a number of young engineers. They are now running the Soviet's huge hydro-electric industry. Engineers trained by Cooper built and installed two 500,000 kw. generators on the Yenisei River near Krasnoyarsk in Siberia.

These are the largest hydro-generators in the world. Eight more are to be installed in this project by next year.

The six Grand Coulee generators are to be 600,000 kw. each. The largest hydro-generators now extant in the West are in the 250,000 to 300,000 kilowatt range.

COLLEGE STUDENTS can relax. Despite much talk to the contrary, student draft deferment will be continued by Congress. A majority of both the House and Senate Armed Services committees favors continuance and Congress will vote for it. . . . The West German government and Red China will exchange consulates sometime this year. Secret negotiations have been going on regarding that in Berne, Switzerland. West Germany has become Communist China's biggest European trader. Business between them tripled in recent years, rising to $113 million in 1966.

Forecast Higher Property Tax Rate For Mill Valley

"A constantly increasing property tax rate" is predicted for Mill Valley property owners by one of the city's "701" planning consultants.

"The city is becoming much more heavily dependent on its property taxes, compared to other sources of revenue," reported Paul H. Sedway in a study issued last week. Entitled "Institutional Resources for Mill Valey Area Planning," it isn't "The Love Book," but it makes fascinating reading. Well, interesting reading.

THE REPORT IS about Mill Valley, but the forecast of higher property taxes no doubt applies to taxpayers almost everywhere.

In the current city budget, Sedway found 44 per cent of revenues come from property taxes and 11 per cent from sales taxes. Statewide averages for city revenues, he notes, are 34 per cent from property taxes and 18 per cent from sales taxes. The average of sales taxes as a per cent of total sales and property taxes is 35 per cent, he reports, but in Mill Valley it was 20 per cent last fiscal year.

With sales tax revenue leveling off, and demands for revenue increasing, the inevitable effect is the "constantly increasing property tax rate" forecast by Sedway.

PROPERTY TAX RELIEF, he suggest, may come through action by the state and federal government to rebate a portion of federal income tax revenue, through increasing assessed valuation of the community, or through increases in other sources of revenue. Income tax rebates, of course, leave unanswered the question, who is paying whom?

Assessed valuation can be increased by annexation, Sedway notes, "although the actual effect when weighted against needed city services for the annexed area must be evaluated in each case," he cautions.

THE OBVIOUS SOURCE of increased revenue is the sales tax, Sedway says. "The financial picture of the city is bound to improve with revitalization of the commercial areas of the city," he observes hopefully.

Altogether, his study is a depressing documentation of the failure to finance urban services equitably.

One local merchant, responding to the report's call for increased sales tax revenue, seriously suggested razing the Outdoor Art Club to make way for a nice motel-gas station complex. For his safety, he will not be named.

AMONG PETITIONERS seeking annexation to the city of Tiburon, according to my favorite Marin County daily, is Charles Parr of Harbor Point.

He apparently is the same Charles H. Parr Sr. who took over Eichler Homes last year, and controls huge undeveloped chunks of Strawberry (or Harbor) Point. The assessed valuation of his holdings will throw a lot of weight behind the annexation drive — and may doom Mill Valley's hope of taking the point.

Mill Valley last summer moved to annex the point, but later withdrew its petition, allegedly on the ground that it did not want to fight with Tiburon over the annexation. At the time, however, Parr was understood to have agreed — verbally — to annexation to Mill Valley.

Now it's Tiburon's chance to seek Lebensraum to the west.

Felony Assault Guilty Verdict

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday deliberated only two hours before finding Robert Peter Sundberg, 24, guilty of felony assault on a San Rafael police officer Feb. 1.

He will be sentenced by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner at 9 a.m. May 19.

Sundberg, of the Carmel Hotel, San Rafael, lunged at Patrolman Robert A. Larrison with a screwdriver when the officer arrived at Sundberg's room to investigate a disturbance report.

Trial began Tuesday. Deputy Dist. Atty. Ernest Zunino prosecuted. Sundberg was defended by Harold J. Truett, assistant public defender.

Span Takeover Plan On Agenda

Marin County Transit District directors on Wednesday will consider the effect on the county of a proposed state takeover of the Golden Gate Bridge.

That matter will be part of a scheduled report on the April 12 meeting of the Tripartite Committee on Rapid Transit, which was devoted largely to discussing such a proposal put before the State Senate by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco.

Other items on the district agenda for its 8 p.m. meeting at Civic Center include a legislative report and salary recommendations for staff positions.

Paint-Up Plans To Be Presented

Plans to carry on Mill Valley's proposed paint-up, clean-up of commercial districts will be presented Monday to chamber of commerce directors at 12:15 p.m. in the school district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

Samuel W. Schneider, temporary chairman of the paint-up campaign, said he will present "good, concrete plans that we know will work." Details will be disclosed at the meeting, he said.

High Level Official Reveals Facts About Backgrounders

WASHINGTON — There has been criticism of the press recently for attending what is known in Washington parlance as "the backgrounder." The backgrounder is an anonymous press conference at which some high official reveals certain "facts" to the press on the condition that the reporters will not identify the source of their news.

The trouble with this type of briefing is that it not only puts the newspaperman under obligation to the official for holding the backgrounder, but it also is used as a method of sending up trial balloons which many times are filled with hot air.

I HADN'T REALIZED the role backgrounders played in the life of the average newspaperman in Washington until I had my foot up on the bar at the National Press Club the other night and overheard the following conversation between four top-flight Washington correspondents.

The first one said: "A reliable source reported to me this morning that the State Department will soon merge with the U.S. Coast Guard as an economy measure as well as a practical matter."

"I checked this out with a high-level spokesman at the White House," the second reporter said, "and he denied it."

"How high was your high-level spokesman?" the first reporter demanded.

"He was a damned sight higher than your reliable source at the State Department," the second man replied.

"It doesn't make any difference who outranks whom," the third man said, "because I just spoke to an informed source at the Pentagon, not for attribution of course, and he told me off the record that he could not comment on it, which certainly makes one believe there is something to it."

THE FOURTH MAN became highly agitated. "A government spokesman who backgrounded us this morning said it was his understanding that State was going to merge with Health, Education and Welfare, and the U.S. Coast Guard was going to become part of the Library of Congress."

The first man spoke up again. "It so happens that a well-informed unnamed administrative official told us that your government official's backgrounder was in complete contradiction to an 'unidentified source story' he released to the press earlier in the day."

"Oh, yeah, wise guy?" the fourth man said. "Your well-informed unnamed administrative official is noted for leaking denials of other people's backgrounders and I wouldn't put any faith in anything he said."

"You'd talk differently if you knew who my well-informed unnamed administrative official is. He chews up government officials for breakfast."

THE THIRD MAN chimed in: "I always get my stories on highest authority."

"Sure, but you attribute any reliable source to the highest authority."

"I have more faith in them than I do in top U.S. officials."

"The other day you even quoted an informed official as an authoritative source."

"That's still better than what you did when you got a story from someone 'in touch with the Pentagon' and changed it to 'a source close to the White House.'"

"I had permission to change it."

"From whom?"

Social Studies Speaker Listed

The Marin County Council for Social Studies will hold an organizational meeting May 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the County Superintendent of Schools Office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

Featured speaker will be Robert Holczer, of Woodacre, a teacher in the Novato School District. Holczer, who fled his native Hungary during the 1956 revolution, will discuss "Eastern Europe: A New Prospective."

The newly formed organization for teachers interested in social studies is affiliated with the California Council for Social Studies.

Bay Government Study Approved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Governmental Efficiency Committee Wednesday approved a resolution to initiate a two-year legislative study of San Francisco Bay Area Regional Government plans.

The resolution by Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, would create an eight-member Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization with an 11-member advisory group. The committee would submit a report to the legislature by 1969.

McAteer's office said it hopes most of the study's $240,000 cost would be paid by federal funds.

Riding Training Clinic Scheduled

A horse and rider training clinic will be taught by Monte Foreman on May 5 to 7 at the Novato Horseman's Arena, Bugeia Lane, Novato, co-sponsored by the Marin County Mounted Sheriff's Posse and Novato Horsemen, Inc.

Reservations may be obtained from Mervyn Bain, 23 Farm Road, San Rafael.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Here's Hoping Hub Interchange Traffic Routing Wins Backing

My person congratulations to Mayor John M. Reichmuth of San Anselmo for his proposed arrangement for handling traffic at the Hub intersection.

Fusselman

I hope he has better luck than I did in 1951. Not as a supervisor, but as a citizen of San Anselmo for many years and a former mayor who had driven through the intersection several times a day for those many years, I presented a plan which I had an engineer draft and blueprint for me.

KNOWING THAT drivers had become accustomed to changing lanes as they approached intersections, or turn-off points in metropolitan areas and elsewhere, it was my belief that traffic at the Hub could be kept moving in all directions constantly without stop signs and at a speed of 10 to 15 miles per hour. With the proper adjustment of grade levels, this was the plan:

Greenfield Avenue would be two lanes one-way eastward as far as the first street entering it from the south. Traffic from Ross Valley northbound for Fairfax would use the left lane and for San Rafael the right one. At the end of the one-way stretch, those for Fairfax would turn left, then left again and gradually work over to the right-hand lane of Sir Francis Drake. Traffic for San Rafael would move on to the Miracle Mile and proceed eastward.

Cars from San Rafael for Fairfax would move to the right-hand lane and continue on. Those from San Rafael bound for San Anselmo, Ross Valley and beyond would use the left lane and proceed to a point just beyond the service station and there make a long u-turn left onto Center Boulevard to Sir Francis Drake and then a right turn to Ross Valley.

TRAFFIC FROM Fairfax would make a right turn off Sir Francis Drake there to Center and also a right turn off Center for Ross Valley and those for San Rafael would continue onto Greenfield and then to the Miracle Mile.

No stop signs would be required and traffic would move continuously. Pedestrian traffic which now crosses the Miracle Mile would be handled by an underpass. The service station would remain in its present location, but the PG&E transformers would have to be relocated nearby.

TRAFFIC FROM Fairfax to San Anselmo Avenue would continue to use Bridge Street and that from San Anselmo Avenue, for San Rafael or Fairfax would continue on to Bridge Street to Center and to Greenfield.

I presented this to the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and others one evening and got pushed around so I dropped it.

My first car was a 1914 Model-T Ford sedan with a brass band around the radiator. Since then I have driven a good many thousands of miles and am sorry the keeping a log never occurred to me.

THOSE YEARS and miles have taken me around Oregon and Washington as well as our own state. I have watched the development of the roads and highways, both with the interest of a driver and as a public official. Because of this, I intend to spend some time discussing what I have seen and experienced and then relate this to the Route 17 problem. I hope it may be helpful.

Opening lead — ♣ K

When today's hand was played by a rather conservative group of men, South took the first trick with the ace of clubs, led out the ace of trumps and continued with the jack of trumps.

West won and tried to cash the queen of clubs, but South ruffed high and led his low trump to dummy's eight in order to return the queen of diamonds for a finesse.

WEST FEARFUL

West won with the king of diamonds and panicked at the sight of dummy's long suit.

Surely, West thought, declarer would manage to discard his spade losers on the diamonds if he were given time to do so.

West desperately led the ace of spades in the hope of collecting two spade tricks in a hurry.

IMPORTANCE OF COUNTING

West might have defeated the contract if he had been able to see his toes — because then he might have counted up to 13.

West knew that South had started with exactly five hearts and one club.

This left him with seven cards in spades and diamonds combined.

South could play five of those seven cards on dummy's diamonds, but he would still have two spades left after finishing with the diamonds.

After taking the king of diamonds West should return a diamond, forcing declarer to tackle the spades by himself.

South would have to lose two spade tricks, and this would cost him the game and rubber.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club.

If partner responds in hearts or diamonds you can bid one spade and thus show both of your suits at a low level.

Some experts would open the hand with one notrump, but it is one point light for this bid by accepted standards.

Young Cyclist Upsets Span Closing Ritual

NEWCASTLE, England (UPI) —Ten-year-old David Dallus goes down in history as the last person to have crossed Newcastle's old Scotswood Bridge across the Tyne.

It wasn't planned that way. The boy cycled across the bridge a few minutes behind an official delegation making the "last crossing." Said David: "How was I to know?"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, April 28, the 118th day of 1967 with 247 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venues, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1878 was American actor Lionel Barrymore.

On this day in history:

In 1952, the war with Japan officially ended as a treaty signed the year before by the United States and 47 other nations went into effect.

In 1965, President Johnson ordered 400 U.S. marines into the Dominican Republic after fighting broke out. Eventually, some 14,000 U.S. troops were sent there.

Father Jailed For 2nd Time

A San Anselmo man, whose four young children were "black and blue" reportedly from beatings, was arrested early today by San Anselmo police for the second night in a row and charged with disturbing the peace.

At 1:20 a.m. a neighbor of Herbert P. Stonecipher, 34, of 245 San Francisco Boulevard, called police to report that Stonecipher "was beating his family again," officers said.

Police found Mrs. Stonecipher and two children, Anita Mills, 10, and Sandra Mills, 9, outside the house in night clothes and barefooted. Stonecipher and two younger children, Debra Stonecipher, 4, and Kenneth Stonecipher, 3, were inside the house, which was locked, police said.

Mrs. Stonecipher told police her husband had beaten the two youngest children "black and blue" yesterday afternoon, and had threatened to kill them.

She said that last night he tried to choke her, and when she fought back he picked up a 5-week-old kitten by the neck and threw it out the door. She asked the children to run next door and have a neighbor call police, she said. When her husband went after the two girls, she ran after them and Stonecipher locked them all out of the house, she reported.

Officers arrested him after his wife made a citizens' arrest. He was released on $110 bail. Police said he had been arrested the night before on the same charge, and released.

Officers said they observed severe bruises on the children.

Stolen Truck Leads Police On Wild Two-City Chase

San Anselmo and San Rafael police chased a San Francisco man in a stolen truck through both towns at speeds up to 55 miles per hour yesterday, then had to run him down on foot.

Today, he was taken to Napa Hospital for treatment of hallucinations.

At 10 a.m., Capt. Chester C. Orr of San Anselmo police heard an all-points bulletin for a truck which had just been stolen in Lagunitas. One minute later, he saw it pass Madrone Avenue on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, heading east.

RAN STOP SIGN

Orr went in pursuit. The truck, he reported, ran a stop sign at the Hub intersection, and when Orr tried to force it to pull up on Greenfield Avenue, shifted lanes to block out the police car.

On Second Street in San Rafael, Patrolman R. D. Green of San Rafael police joined the chase. The truck switched to Third Street, then stopped at Francis Street, where the driver leaped out and ran to an apartment building at 25 Francis Street, with both officers pursuing on foot.

As they were climbing the stairs to the third floor, the officers heard an occupant order somebody to "get the hell out." Out came Lance D. Lieberman, 22, of San Francisco. The officers handcuffed him and took him to county jail.

In his pockets were found what appeared to be marijuana seeds, Captain Orr reported. He was booked on suspicion of car theft, reckless driving, not yielding to an emergency vehicle, running a stop sign and traffic signal, and driving without a driver's license.

At 4:50 p.m., jailers heard Lieberman screaming. Sheriff's officers said he seemed to be having hallucinations. He was then taken to the state hospital.

Passing Boat Too Much For A Tot

A 4-year-old Novato boy saw a boat on a passing trailer yesterday and could not resist the desire to run out and touch it.

Dennis Glenn Downing ran from the home of his parents, S/Sgt. and Mrs. Dennis G. Downing, at 637 Morgan Way as the boat was going by on a trailer drawn by a car driven by S/Sgt. Howard Jones, 35, of 1130 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, police reported. The moving trailer knocked the boy down. He was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base for injury to his right leg.

Marin Bus Commuter Proposal Gets Backing

The streets committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors yesterday endorsed using Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District money to help finance commuter bus service in Marin.

If subsequently approved by San Francisco's full board, the way would be smoothed to permitting the bridge district and Marin Rapid Transit District to take over Greyhound Bus operations in Marin and provide public transportation as a joint venture. San Francisco has seven of the 14 directors on the bridge board.

Bridge Director Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, longtime advocate of this step to relieve commuter automobile pressure on the bridge and congestion on Highway 101, appeared before the committee to urge approval.

Hardcastle, stressing that he was acting as a private citizen and not speaking for the bridge board, said Greyhound is currently losing about $500,000, a deficit that would have to be shared equally by Marin taxpayers and the bridge district.

The taxpayers, he said, are currently putting up their share in any event through the $250,000 a year raised by the current transit district's 5-cent tax per $100 of assessed valuation.

Hardcastle said it is also proposed that the bridge district put up an initial $5.5 million for a fleet of new buses.

Hardcastle told the Independent-Journal today that there is no certainty that the $500,000 annual deficit wouldn't increase with improved service, a point made in the past by Greyhound executives when asserting they can't afford improvements.

"The main point," Hardcastle said, "is that public transportation is recognized throughout the country as a public responsibility."

Final form of bridge and transit district cooperation, he said, will require further discussion by all concerned.

Tidal Study Flow Slated For Lagoon

A cable will block the mouth of Bolinas Lagoon twice this summer for about 30 hours each time to permit study of tidal flows, Bolinas Harbor District Commissioners announced last night.

Dates of the studies will be announced, said district planner Norman T. Gilroy. The cable will be dropped to let boats pass, he said, but boaters should be aware of the cable, which will be about three feet off the water.

The cable will be used to moor skiffs while flows are measured.

Commissioners agreed to study siltation of the channel serving Bolinas Rod and Boat Club, Gilroy said. Heavy winter rains carried large amounts of silt into the lagoon, he noted.

San Rafael Chapter of the California School Employees Association last night chose Helen Green as chapter vice president and Barbara Hughes as delegate to the state association's annual conference Aug. 1-4 in Los Angeles.

Both are employed by the San Rafael schools, Mrs. Green as a library clerk, Mrs. Hughes as an accountant.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

A Suffering Wife Finds Husband Of Shotgun Marriage Uncooperative

DEAR HELEN:

Ours was one of those shotgun marriages. My husband has made it clear many times that he's sorry he went through with it. We've been married five unhappy years, but I love my family and don't want a divorce.

The other night I began having my severe chest pains. I called our doctor who couldn't come because he was preparing for surgery, so he suggested I get a check-up at the emergency ward of a hospital. I called my husband at 11 p.m., and he refused to get off work till his shift was over, at 2 a.m. I suffered.

When he finally got me to the hospital, the examination showed nothing serious, and my husband was furious because he lost his sleep, for nothing.

I think he would be happier if these pains of mine meant I'd die tomorrow, and maybe someday they will. His lack of concern is killing me. What to do? — P.O.H.

DEAR P:

Next time you see your doctor, tell him your family troubles and ask him to prescribe a marriage counselor. I doubt your aches and pains will ever ease until you straighten out your life. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

After reading the gripes and self-made troubles of others, I realize how lucky I am.

I don't guess others would call my husband special, but to me and our three girls, he is The One in a Million.

He's not fancy, doesn't like to eat out much, prefers to stay home, which tells me he likes my cooking and our company.

We don't have a fine house, but we have the best he can provide.

He doesn't go around saying "I love you," because he doesn't need to convince himself or me. His tone of voice and touch in everyday living tell me all I want to know.

I'd like to say to husbands and wives who are having difficulties: "If you once cared for the other, there were some qualities there you liked, but they just got lost somewhere along the way. Look back and find them. Bring them to life again before it's too late." — CONTENTED

DEAR HELEN:

This is an answer to T.I.R.E.D., who championed "sloppy" housewives. Housework does seem like a lot when it's listed on paper, as she did, but any job would seem excessive if details were enumerated. TIRED castigated efficiency and organization, saying a family would rather have a wife and mother "ready to listen, laugh and love." That is exactly what efficiency and organization do — give a woman more time to spend with her family and pursue her hobbies. Any ordinarily alert woman can find time for all.

It's no fairytale that a household can be presentable at all times. It's easy too. I figure I spend only 15 hours a week on strictly housework and yet I spend the same amount of time on personal pleasures. That leaves me 21 hours to enjoy and help our two pre-school children, and the same for my husband who likes to come home to three happy girls AND a neat home. Then there are 63 hours to loll in bed and 15 hours for my hobby (writing), and 18 hours for planning and preparing meals. Of course a lot of these things overlap as well they should. So a housewife does have a pretty nice life —I love mine! My 168 hours in the week are full and happy . . . I even sleep happy!

TIRED is certainly right about one thing: the importance of parents to children. The little dears need lots of love and attention and no woman should be too busy to give them. But she should also give the security of knowing that she loves her job as wife, housekeeper and mother. Martyrs aren't respected by any age.

—HAPPY WITH LIFE

Fruits, Vegetables Plentiful In Area

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A golden array of good-for-you fruits, vegetables, meats and poultry continues to be plentiful in area markets.

Vegetable bins are brimming with plentiful potatoes and onions.

Flowing to fruit stands are apples, oranges, watermelons and grapefruit.

At meat counters, watch for economical beef buys in roasts and steaks. Ham, eggs and bacon are almost bountiful buys. In your poultry department, broiler-fryers and turkeys are winging their way to market in sizable supplies.

Fish tipping the scales often and abundantly this week are fish fillets and canned salmon.

Pork prices trended downward in most West Coast markets. Hams and bacon declined slightly all along the Coast, pork shoulders declined in Portland and Los Angeles, and spareribs were 1 to 2 cents a pound lower in the northwest.

Beef prices were generally unchanged to slightly higher, except in Los Angeles where rounds, forequarters, ribs, loins and chucks all declined about 2 cents a pound.

Ample supplies of dairy and poultry items were mostly unchanged in price from a week ago.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce and potatoes.

Druggists Say Phone Hike Would Up Prescriptions 5c

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Pharmaceutical Association says the cost of prescriptions will rise 4 or 5 cents each if Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. is granted a telephone rate boost.

Benjamin J. Kingwell, association president, urged the State Public Utilities Commission yesterday to reject the requested $181 million increase.

"The utilization of phone services by pharmacists in the execution of their professional responsibilities is of such magnitude as to affect the costs of prescriptions," Kingwell said.

If the rate hike is approved, Kingwell said, "the state should increase government -sponsored medical program benefits to pay for these additional rate increases."

Spokesmen for Pacific Telephone, in asking for higher rates, have said the company is in financial jeopardy and needs a higher return on its investment.

Hotel Fire Kills Man; Routs 320

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A two-alarm fire at a downtown hotel early today took the life of one person and routed 320 others from their beds.

The victim was tentatively identified as James Boyd, 51. Firemen said the blaze apparently started as a result of smoking in bed.

A guest spotted the fire and alerted the night clerk. The two, with help from two policemen, aroused the other residents, who fled to the lobby.

Damage to the seven-story Lankershim Hotel, was estimated at $10,000.

Shortage Of Profs—Plenty Of Students

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Presidents of California state colleges attending a meeting of the system's Board of Trustees found they had two problems in common — a sharp rise in student applications, plus a shortage of faculty.

Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the 18-college system, told the trustees yesterday that the colleges have received 73,465 new applications for fall admission thus far — an increase of 16,080 or 28 per cent over this time last year.

At the same time, Dumke said, only 450 of 2,135 faculty vacancies have been filled.

State college presidents blamed the faculty shortage in part on Gov. Reagan's budget cutting proposals, which led to a three-month moratorium on hiring.

It was noted, however, that the governor now is supporting a $187 million appropriation for the colleges. But some said damage had already been done.

"It came too late," said Dr. William B. Langsdorf, president of Cal State Fullerton. "We lost many good people because of the three-month freeze on hiring."

Dodd Vows To Fight Censure By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders indicated today the resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will be taken up in about 10 days. Dodd vowed to fight it and, whatever the outcome, to run for a third term in 1970.

The Senate's bipartisan Ethics Committee unanimously recommended yesterday after a 14-month investigation that the white-haired Connecticut Democrat be censured for financial misconduct.

None of Dodd's colleagues spoke out immediately in his defense, but he was quick to reassert he had done nothing wrong and said he would make a detailed reply to the committee's findings.

In its report to the Senate the panel said Dodd diverted to "his personal purposes" at least $116,083 in politically raised campaign and testimonial funds in the years 1961-65.

It also said that in this same period he collected travel expenses both from the Senate and private organizations for seven trips. It did not list the total amount involved in the double billing.

The proposed resolution of censure declared that in both respects Dodd's conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The committee also requested the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into various aspects of Dodd's activities to determine whether any possible violations of law were involved.

Kesey Accident Postpones Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The second retrial of novelist Ken Kesey, on a charge of possessing marijuana, was postponed yesterday because the author was in a car-train accident.

The trial was to have begun today, but on Wednesday night the accident sent Kesey and two of his three children to a Eugene, Ore., hospital. The accident happened at Springfield, Ore., Kesey's hometown. He was treated for cuts and bruises. One child was hospitalized.

Marinite Reports On Tornado Havoc

By BETTY FROST

What is it like in Belvidere, Ill., one week after the town was hit by a tornado?

Mrs. John Dole of 20 Maple Hill Drive, Marinwood, who believes that she is the only former resident of Belvidere now living in Marin County, was able to get a telephone call through to her mother, Mrs. Martha Wirth, in the Illinois city Wednesday night.

Mrs. Dole said 57 of 60 homes in a subdivision where her brother lives were destroyed. "When my sister-in-law's three young children came home from school last Friday, she made them go directly to the basement. After the storm had passed, they came out of the basement. The rest of the house was gone," Mrs. Dole related.

MRS. JOHN DOLE
In tornado country

CAUGHT IN CAR

Mrs. Dole's niece, Christine Hyser, 11, and two of her friends were caught in a neighbor's car, parked in the same lot where a school bus was destroyed killing elementary children and the bus driver. The neighbor told the children to lie down on the car floor and covered them with a blanket. All the windows in the car were broken, but the children were uninjured, according to Mrs. Dole.

The Marinwood woman was close to tears as she spoke of tragedy and narrow escapes to family and friends in town where her family has lived for three generations.

"My mother did not realize," she said, "that I live so near Belvedere, Calif." The citizens of Marin's Belvedere have formed a committee to work with the American Red Cross to assist their devastated namesake community.

PASSES NEEDED

In Belvidere, Ill., the National Guard is patroling the tornado area. Even residents whose homes are in the area may not enter without a pass, Mrs. Dole reported. It is estimated that at least 400 homes were severely damaged. All business is at a standstill. Women of the town make sandwiches and coffee in central kitchens to feed the victims and the relief workers.

More than 100 injured children in the 8 to 15 year age group are in hospitals, some as far away as Chicago, 65 miles away.

Mrs. Dole recalls no previous tornado in Belvidere. "We never had anything like this before. The people were totally unprepared," she said.

"Our Belvidere was called the garden spot of the Midwest. It was a beautiful town with a lovely park. It is a friendly town where everyone on the northside knows everyone on the southside. Few ever leave town. . . .

STARTING OVER

"My brother says, "We'll just have to start over," she concluded, sadly.

The citizen committee appointed last Sunday by Mayor John R. Moore of Marin's Belvedere has opened a special account at the Tiburon-Belvedere office of Crocker-Citizens National Bank. Donations may be made out to "American Red Cross, Tornado Relief, Belvidere, Ill."

Mrs. Dole, whose husband, John, is regional group manager for St. Paul-Western Life Insurance Co., said she had been planning a trip to Illinois in mid-May. "I still want to go," said the former American Airline stewardess, "I would like to help out at home."

Mill Valley Trio Lives On Stew In Athens During Wake Of Coup

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The military coup in Greece last Friday that surprised the world did not surprise the Greeks themselves, according to a Mill Valley businessman who returned Wednesday night from Greece.

"It's the dictatorship; we've expected it," Greeks told Walt Brown, owner of Small World Travel and Leasing. Brown and his two step-daughters, Kathryn, 17, and Rayna, 16, arrived in Athens from Lebanon on April 18, two days before the coup.

BEFORE COUP

On Thursday, the morning before the coup, the Athens Daily Post carried a page one denial by the government that President Johnson had sent a personal message to the Greek king saying "the United States is not disposed to back by word or deed any dictatorship in Greece." The coup apparently was expected by Washington, too.

"That night, just before it happened," Brown said, "We visited the grounds of the king's palace, but there wasn't the slightest indication of what was coming.

"We went back to the hotel at about 8 p.m., had dinner and the girls went to bed about 10:30 — We were to fly the next morning to Madrid. I went for a walk, and, as I was coming back at about 12:15, all of a sudden the streets started to become deserted, and then all of a sudden the streets were full of soldiers."

STREETS VACALET

On a normal night in Athens, Brown said, streets and cafes are filled with people until 3 a.m.

By the time Brown reached his hotel, the King George V in Constitution Square, the entrance was blocked by soldiers armed with guns. Brown was able to talk his way into the hotel only because he had his room key —evidence that he was a guest in the hotel.

When he awoke early in the morning, Brown said, barricades had been thrown up around the square, in front of the hotel, and around Parliament, which was only 100 yards from the hotel. Sherman tanks rumbled around the square, known as "The Via Veneto of Athens," and surrounded Parliament.

Brown and his step-daughters were trapped in the hotel almost 36 hours before they managed to get on the first planeload of foreigners to leave Saturday afternoon.

"There was no hysteria, but there was some nervousness," Brown said. "Some of the women were speaking at higher pitches." Most of the 300 to 400 guests in the hotel were Americans.

JOME AUDENESS

"There was a lot of abruptness and rudeness among the American guests that was embarrassing," he said.

Brown said he saw no shooting, no violence, and no arrests from his hotel, but "what we thought at first was backfiring of cars was small arms fire, which was sporadic both nights."

All telephone communication was cut off. Newspapers stopped publishing, and Greek radio stations stopped broadcasting. Only the American Armed Forces Network continued to broadcast, but was obliged to remain silent on the coup, Brown said.

"It's unbelieveable what can happen overnight," he observed. "The hotel, delightful under normal circumstances, became a real disorderly mess."

Despite the coup, however, the hotel switchboard operator awakened Brown at 6 a.m., as he had requested, so he could make his flight to Madrid — even though the hotel was barricaded and he could not leave.

The first meal the hotel managed to prepare was a veal stew served all guests late in the afternoon. Dinner that night was veal stew again. Supplies could not be brought into the hotel, and employees could not be relieved.

Finally, on Saturday morning, foreigners were allowed to cross the square to the airline office. "It was like a nuthouse," Brown said.

BAGGAGE CHICKS

At the airport, Brown and the girls were taken to a lounge for breakfast — which never arrived.

As the morning wore on, the officer in charge of the special police detachment called Brown and another American back for a second baggage inspection. Both had stayed in the King George. He was looking for photographs they might have taken from the hotel. He found a camera in the second American's luggage and ripped out the film. He refused to believe that Brown had no camera. All Americans have cameras, he insisted.

For an hours, Brown said, the officer interrogated him, mostly in Greek, about the "missing camera." Finally, the officer gave up and allowed Brown to rejoin the girls, each of whom had a camera in her flight bag. "He never asked about the girls," Brown said, "probably because their last name is Kopf."

"I would suggest tourists keep away from Greece until things cool off there," Brown concluded.

Hub Chamber Elects Directors

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday was elected two new directors to replace resigning directors.

DeWitt Mason, Manager of the San Anselmo branch of Bank of America, and Shirley Coleman, owner of Tamalpais Electric Co., were elected after William A. Trewhella resigned because he is now chamber manager, and E. S. Palmquist resigned because of increased business activity.

Mason was also elected chamber treasurer.

The chamber approved hiring Mrs. Ruth Larson as chamber secretary to open the office from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. weekdays except Wednesday.

A resolution was voted opposing a Assembly bill to change division highway funds between Northern and Southern California, giving 40 per cent to Northern California was passed.

Daylight Burglary Suspect Is Arrested

An escapee from Marin Juvenile Hall, who allegedly helped steal $7,000 in goods from his step-parents' home in Mill Valley, was chased on foot, tackled and arrested yesterday by a San Rafael policeman.

The capture of John T. Gall, 16, of 920 Lovell Avenue, led to the arrest of two other youths in the daylight burglary Wednesday of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jules L. Gall, pet shop owners, and recovery of more than $5,000 of the loot, police said.

Police gave these details:

A car carrying Gall and four other youths was stopped at noon yesterday on Third Street near Lincoln Avenue by Patrolman Phillip D. Green, who had heard a broadcast for Gall and the auto by Mill Valley police.

When Gall could not give identification, police said, Green took him into custody and placed him in the patrol car. But the youth bolted. Green sprinted after him, making a flying tackle in front of the Travelers Inn a block away on Third Street.

At headquarters, police said they confiscated from Gall a ring, a key to a burglar alarm in his step-parents' store, and a leather jacket — all taken in the burglary.

More loot was later recovered from undisclosed locations, according to Mill Valley Police Chief Dan Terzich, although a .45 caliber automatic was still missing.

Last night, police arrested James N. Litteral, 21, of 9 Taylor Street, San Rafael, and a 17-year-old San Quentin Village youth at their homes and charged them with burglary. Litteral was held under $1,100 bail.

Gall, who fled Juvenile Hall Monday where he was confined for burglary and for being beyond parental control, was returned to face charges of escape and resisting arrest, as well as the new burglary charge.

Burglar Takes $1,265 In Loot

A burglar who forced a rear door stole $1,265 worth of personal property from the home of Gordon Y. Kaneko at 4 Middle Court, Mill Valley, between Tuesday evening and yesterday afternoon, police reported.

Mrs. Kaneko discovered the burglary on arriving home late yesterday. The house had been ransacked.

The list of stolen items included a television set, jewelry, $100 in Kennedy half-dollars, and clothing.

Valhalla Told To Pay Janitor

Sally Stanford was ordered yesterday to pay $563.85 back pay to a janitor who complained he had been underpaid while working at her Valhalla Restaurant in Sausalito.

The State Labor Commission upheld the claim of Manuel Viruet, 24, that he had been hired at $15.25 a day but was paid only $12.

Viruet also esserted that no income tax form was sent him by the management which, he said, had claimed he was not an employee but a private contractor when he was fired.

Inverness Fire Leaves Family Of 6 Homeless

The fire began with a child leaving a lighted cigarette on a mattress, according to County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

It ended by doing $10,500 damage to the building and destroying about $8,000 in personal belongings of the Clement B. Favre family at 115 El Camino Del Mar in the Sea Haven subdivision.

DREW 2 TRUCKS

The fierce blaze, reported by neighbors at 2:38 p.m., drew two fire trucks from Point Reyes Station, Inverness and Woodacre. Chief Bloom reported it was under control at 4 p.m.

Favre, whose wife is in Norway, said he had to work late in San Francisco, where he is a salesman, and became worried when unable to reach his family by telephone. He learned of the fire—and that his five children, aged 8 to 16, were safe —on calling neighbors at 7:30 p.m.

BELIEVED OUT

A small fire started, which they mistakenly believed they put out. The flames spread to drapes and soon engulfed the rest of the room.

Their brother Gary, 8, found the room ablaze on his return to the house. He and his sisters ran to the nearby home of Mrs. William F. Maloney, who turned in the alarm.

Two other children, Paul, 16, and Mark, 12, were in school at the time.

The family was divided up among neighbors last night, and today Favre said he had found an apartment in Point Reyes Station. The Red Cross, he said, is helping locate furniture and clothing.

Burglary Takes Cash In Novato

Mrs. Lucile Cannon of 890 Tamalpais Avenue, Novato, yesterday reported to Novato police that $60 in cash was taken from her home.

She said her husband, Col. (ret.) Robin Cannon, had counted the money on the night of April 11 and when he went to get some on the afternoon of April 12, $60 of it was missing. There was no sign of forced entry, police reported.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Sleep Alters, Doesn't Halt Actions Of Body's Organs

VAN DELLEN

The body organs continue to work during sleep, but total relaxation alters their function. This explains the various phenomena that take place at night. The glands are depressed except those that produce sweat. Dryness of the throat on awakening is due partly to reduction in secretions of the salivary glands in the mouth and the mucus-producing structures in the nose.

PERSPIRATION goes on; consequently, we weigh a little less on arising then we did on going to bed. The rise in skin temperature associated with generalized relaxation augments the function of the sweat glands.

The pulse rate in an individual with a normal heart is slowed 10 to 30 beats during sleep; metabolism falls from 10 to 15 per cent.

Suppression of tears is responsible for the legendary sandman; the eyes are rubbed because they feel dry and crusty.

THE BLOOD pressure drops slightly in the normal person and much more in the hypertensive. Some physicians take readings during sleep to determine how low the level will go during complete relaxation.

This is reasonable because the use of sedatives or other drugs is useless unless relaxation lowers tension. Studies show that blood pressure rises during an exciting dream. This situation has been blamed for heart attacks and apoplexy that occur at night, but whether a true relationship exists between the two is a moot question.

AMNESIA is common among sleepers. An intern who is called during the night becomes fully conscious and may answer complicated questions. He hangs up the receiver, rolls over, and falls asleep. The next morning he may not be able to recall the conversation.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I.-J.

HEBERDEN'S NODULES

J. J. H. writes: Our family is addicted to bumps on the fingers. There is no pain. Is this condition related to arthritis?

REPLY

Yes. This disorder, called Heberden's nodes, is a form of hypertrophic arthritis. Soreness usually lasts one to six months. A good treatment is soaking the hands in hot water and women who do their own dishes are thus provided with an easy form of therapy.

CARE OF BLISTERS

E. D. L. writes: Can anything be done to heal blisters faster, like pricking them to let out the blood?

REPLY

Sticking a needle into a blood blister is not recommended because of the danger of infection. Germs thrive on blood, but so long as the lesion remains closed they cannot get in. Apply a clean bandage and forget the blister.

SACROILIAC DISCOMFORT

H. B. F. writes: I have been wearing a sacroiliac belt for the last seven years without much relief. Is there anything else that can be done for this ailment?

REPLY

Yes. If your physician cannot help, why not ask for a consultation with an orthopedic surgeon who is a specialist in this field?

DISK AND DANCING

F. S. writes: I have had surgery twice for a slipped disk. Would square dancing be hard on my back?

REPLY

Not if pressure upon the spinal nerves has been relieved.

INJURY AND CANCER

D. N. writes: Can pinching cause cancer?

REPLY

The cause of cancer is not known, although injury may play a role.

Cautious Talk On Leukemia Miracle Drug

By ADVANCE NEWS SERVICE

PALM BEACH, Fla. — A federal drug expert calls a supposed new drug "cure" for leukemia premature, but hope was still held out that it may open promising new avenues toward arresting cancer.

The substance is L-Asparaginase, an enzyme that has been found to kill some cancerous cells (primarily leukemic cells) without harming most normal tissues. A research institute in Dallas, Tex., claims that the drug caused a disappearance of advanced leukemia in a nine-year-old boy.

Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod, chief drug evaluator for the National Cancer Institute, thinks it could take at least three years to evaluate the drug's effectiveness on humans.

"People who say after a brief experiment that they have a cure can't be believed because this goes against the slow nature of clinical tests," he told a science writer's meeting here sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

While a remission (disappearance) may be achieved, he cautioned, it does not mean the disease may not reappear in a week, month or year. Three years is considered the minimum time for evaluation of such a drug.

"Running out to yell fire after one or two cases," Dr. Zubrod said, "usually means a false alarm"

Dr. William C. Dolowy, University of Illinois veterinarian who has been testing L-Asparaginase for four years, sai dhis staff tried the drug on an eight-year-old boy near death with leukemia in 1965. The youngster died 10 days later; the drug failed to halt the spread of the disease to brain cells. But it had some positive effects too.

Since then, Dr. Dolowy has returned to laboratory tests with rabbits and mice and has begun testing human cancer tissue. He remains hopeful that the drug will eventually prove useful for treatment of some forms of leukemia, especially chronic lymphocytic leukemia.

Of 35 human tissue cultures he has tested, he said, about 26 "look as though they could benefit" from the drug.

There are many obstacles to overcome, he said, before the drug can be used widely on humans.

There is evidence, he indicated, that the human system may develop antibodies to the drug which would destroy its cancer killing powers. Researchers at present, Dr. Dolowy said, do not know how long it takes before these antibodies are built. If the drug is given several times in sufficient doses, he said, it may be possible to eradicate the cancer before the body builds a resistance to the drug.

While there was strong debate over the drug's clinical application at this meeting of top cancer researchers, there was consensus that the way the drug acts on cancerous cells may be a significant development.

Laboratory tests at several leading institutions over the last few years have found that cancer cells apparently can't produce asparagine, an amino acid essential to life. They must obtain their supply from body fluids.

If the supply in body fluids is eliminated, the researchers found, the cancer cells die for lack of asparagine. Normal cells make their own asparagine and aren't affected.

In the meantime, supplies of L-Asparaginase will have to be increased. It is an extremely scarce drug and costs between $400 and $500 for one day's dose for a single child.

One possible source of the drug is the world's largest rodent — the capybara. A native of South America, it reaches four feet in length and weighs up to 200 pounds. Its blood contains L-Asparaginase.

A 'Beat The Quake' Network Is Proposed

If you can't beat earthquakes, join forces to make sure you see them coming and are fully prepared when they arrive.

This, in effect, is one suggestion of a report issued yesterday by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission on earthquake hazards to filled lands.

A massive "beat the quake" network of special seismic equipment on each area of filled land as part of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey is proposed by the report.

Suitable instruments, it states, now cost about $5,000 installed and could in time be halved in price. Purpose would be to provide more precise information about the effects of strong earthquakes. Earthquakes form one of the two major hazards to construction housed on filled land reclaimed from the sea, the report says. The other main concern is fill settling down with time.

According to the report — one of a series aimed at ading the commission decide future uses of the bay — earth movement of relatively soft mud is greater than that of solid rock.

In the 1906 San Francisco earthquake, for example, more damage was caused to waterfront properties on filled land than Nob Hill and similar areas built on solid rock.

"Past earthquakes show that such poor ground is a greater potential hazard than is nearness to the fault or to the center of the earthquake," states the commission report.

1. Potential fill areas should be classified, with professional help, as to earthquake risk. They could be minimum, moderate, substantial or maximum zones.

2. Fill should be constructed only if it is stable enough for the intended use. Buildings and their foundations should be as 'quakeproof as possible and utilities specially designed for fill.

3. A board of review should seek powers to set standards, review and inspect the placement of fill. Such a board should consist of geologists, soils engineers, structional engineers and other specialists.

4. Population of potential fill areas with high eqrthquake or settlement risk should be kept at a minimum.

The report will beconsidered by the commission next Thursday at 2 p.m. in room 17437 of the Federal Building in San Francisco.

Juvenile Hall Federal Fund Plea Backed

The Marin County Board of Education's educational services committee last night decided to recommend for board approval Monday a federally funded project for $11,900 for Juvenile Hall.

The project would provide psychological services, establish a shop facility, provide secretarial help and library equipment at Loma Alta School at the hall.

Asst. Supt. Stnnley Friese said Juvenile Hall has just become eligible for federal funds under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The board's special education committee reviewed a budget of $734,753 for countywide special education programs for the fiscal year 1968, and recommended approval.

The budget includes $203,468 for educable mentally retarded; $239,293, trainable mentally retarded; $149,657, orthopedically handicapped; $67,047, hearing handicapped; $30,616, blind and partially seeing, and $44,672, transportation for the physically handicapped.

The budget was also reviewed last night by the board's administrative services committee.

Widow Wins Court Test

Wilbur Worker liked to travel as part of his job. He joined a construction company doing work in South Korea for two years. It promised to pay his way over and back and give him living expenses for every day in Korea. He worked about 44 hours each week, but when special work was needed he would be on call for work on Saturdays and Sundays.

On one weekend, Wilbur took a trip with some friends to the lake country for relaxation. They went on a boat ride. Half way across the lake, the boat tipped over and Wilbur was drowned.

Wilbur's widow filed for workmen's compensation benefits. His death, she claimed, arose directly out of his employment. The employer's insurance company refused to pay, claiming that Wilbur's injury did not arise out of his work, but came about while Wilbur was off on a "lark" of his own.

The case reached the U.S. Supreme Court which ruled in favor of Wilbur's widow. Wilbur was hired to work under unusual conditions. He was "on the job" 365 days of the year in a hazardous overseas area. The employer provided no living quarters or recreation, and Wilbur had to find his own. Recreation contributes to a worker's higher efficiency and the employer had not forbidden this boating trip. This was an "incident of employment" and the employer (or his insurance firm) would have to pay the widow.

Employers who send their workers to far away places sometimes give them housing and recreation. The courts usually consider injuries under these conditiosn to be "on the job."

Employers who organize recreation teams, office parties, or picnics, may also find them a part of the "employment" for purposes of workmen's compensation laws. But if a group of workers organize their own sports or entertainment solely for their own enjoyment, any injuries they incur are not compensable.

Working conditions often determine whether the injury arose out of the employment. A worker who has to work in a dusty factory may some day contract a serious lung disease. Or the worker who is constantly put under great tension may later have a nervous breakdown or a heart attack. If their employment has caused these injuries or diseases, the worker or his family can receive compensation bebefits.

Fairfax Denies Printer Permit

Fairfax Planning Commission last night denied a permit for a printing and letter shop at 39 Merwin Avenue on grounds it would be "spot zoning and not in the interest of Fairfax plan-at this time," said Mrs. Dell Blodgett, secretary. Application had been made by Arlen and Clara Philpott.

Commissioners also denied a request for a lot split by C. L. Dickinson og 204 Meernaa Avenue, but recommended approval for a use permit to allow remodeling of Nave's Bar at 20 Bolinas Avenue.

The meeting accepted the resignation of Commissioner Martin L. Roth, a member since 1964, who is leaving the county.

Fire House Floor Plans Get Approval

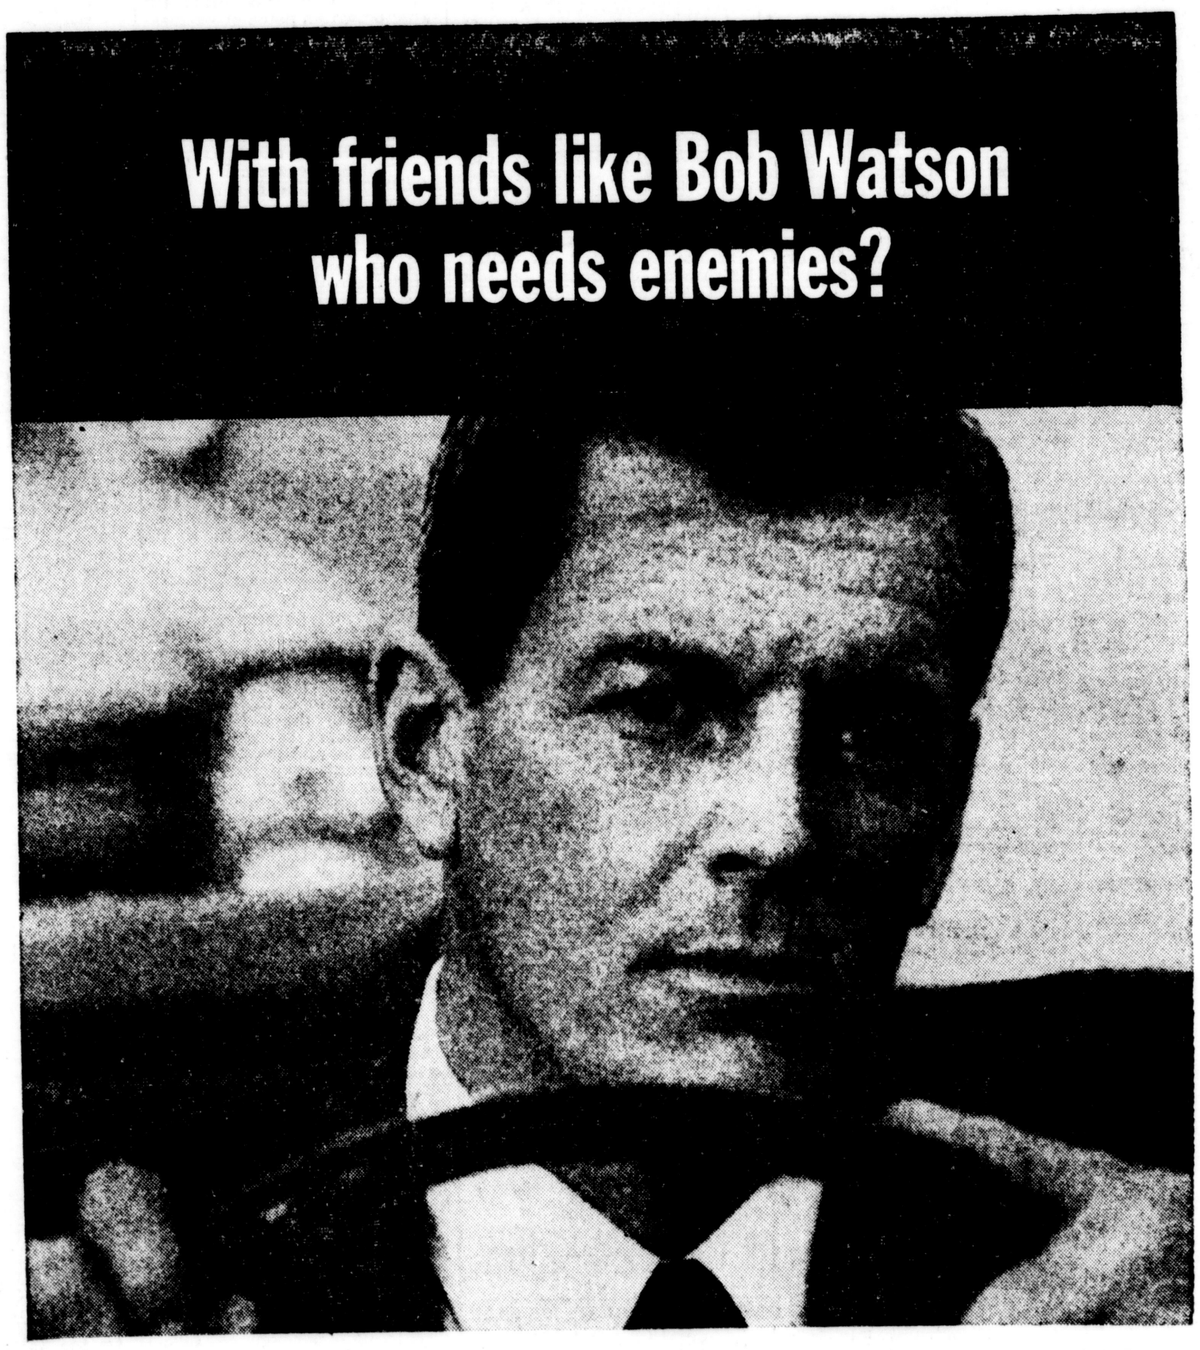
The board set a special meeting for Monday at 8 p.m. at the fire station to review the preliminary budget.

Just For Comparison

LONDON (UPI) — When "Miss Tourism of Singaore," pretty Mollie Ang Mooi Hua, 22, transited London she told reporters what she mainly wanted to see was "a London mini skirt." She was herself wearing a skirt that stopped four inches above the knees.

With friends like Bob Watson who needs enemies?



Bob's one of the best drivers you'll ever meet. He's never had an accident—never even had a parking ticket. But even the best drivers make mistakes once in a while. And when they do, you've got to be ready for it—by driving defensively.

When you're passing another car, defend yourself by letting the guy ahead know you're about to pass. Use your horn or lights. And make sure no one's trying to pass you at the same time!

Tiburon City Planners Eye Annexation

The annexation petition signed by 57 residents of unincorporated areas of Tiburon peninsula will be considered by Tiburon Planning Commission Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

City councilmen will meet with the commission to help get the wheels rolling on annexation proceedings.

If the commission approves the annexation request, the council must adopt a resolution of consent also. Next step would be for proponents to circulate petitions for annexation within the territory to be annexed — all unincorporated areas of the peninsula, about 3.6 square miles.

A reorganization of the planning commission is expected Monday, due to resignation last Monday of chairman Stephen H. Nash and appointment by the council of Rampton W. Harvey.

Also on the commission's agenda are continued items of rezoning 12 acres owned by Tiburon Properties near Hacienda Drive from residential to planned residential, a report on the city's 801 plan, a land base in Tiburon for Angel Island, and a proposed sign ordinance.

New Paper Bikini Has A Problem

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A shapely blonde plunged into a heated swimming pool to demonstrate a new paper bikini for the press and the worst happened — or the best, according to one's point of view.

The top part of the suit — guaranteed not to shrink, burn or disintegrate — floated away Thursday from 23-year-old Noel Steever of Bel Air, Md.

Most of the reporters hardly heard him. They were watching "Miss Body Chemistry of 1967."

The unveiling was in conjunction with Chemical Progress Week.

Miss Steever later said the $4 swimsuit "could use some design changes. Perhaps if they put some holes in it the water would run through and it wouldn't come off."

Ramparts Fires E. M. Keating As Publisher

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ramparts magazine directors have fired Edward M. Keating as publisher and president.

After the board's action Wednesday night, Keating demanded immediate payment of $215,000 he contended the magazine owes him. He estimated his total investment in Ramparts at $860,000.

Keating also called a shareholders meeting for May 8 to ask a reversal of the board's action.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Pros Know How To Beat The Game

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD(UPI) — If you wonder why show business stars often have reputations for being rough and tough in their pursuit of success, consider the ephemeral nature of fame and earnings in television.

For example, was it just this past September that Jean Arthur made her long-awaited comeback in a new comedy series? It was, but the show was gone so quickly that one hardly remembers much about it or what she did or whether it actually was this same season that is just now ending.

And was Tammy Grimes also a star of a new September series? And which September was it, really? Well, it only lasted a month after all the hard work that went into it. And how frustrating this must be, and how much it must affect a performer to be more certain and critical of the next big offer.

Wasn't Garry Moore around for a while too? It seems so. And how about Roger Miller? He did have a series, didn't he? And wasn't there a New York detective series called "Hawk" with a leading man who looked something like Marlon Brando? Or was it Paul Newman he looked like? One forgets.

Dana Wynter. She was in something, wasn't she? What was it? Of course—"The Man Who Never Was." She and that other fellow—the man who never was—made a handsome couple. Robert Lansing. That's who it was. Well, that's who they were, and the show was a quick loss.

Vaguely, one also remembers there was a Western named "Shane," based on the old movie, and starring a young actor who kept saying how different and "with it" this horse opera was going to be.

And Milton Berle. It was in September, one recalls distantly, that he also showed up in a new series, funny as ever, but unfortunately without much of a rating. Bill Dana, (Jose Jimenez), of all people, turned up as his producer. They were canceled. But now, this Monday, Dana returns on the new United Network as host of a nightly two-hour show from Las Vegas, and Berle is a guest on the premiere. That's one way to beat the game—start the season on one network and end it on another. That's more than ephemeral. That's showbiz.

American Motors Takes Big Step To Solve Financing

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors reportedly has taken a giant step toward solving its financial problems by selling its financing subsidiary, Rediseo, Inc. to Chrysler Corp.

The sale was confirmed today by unimpeachable sources. They told The Associated Press that formal announcement of the deal is scheduled for next Tuesday.

American Motors' board of directors meets Monday and is expected to announce a $30-million loss for the first six months of its current fiscal year.

There was no official confirmation from either American Motors or Chrysler regarding the sale

Chrysler Board Chairman Lynn A. Towsend told newsmen April 18, "We are continuing to look at Rediseo but no decision has been made yet."

Rediseo, whose annual profit was estimated at between $3 million and $4 million, reportedly carried a price tag of over $30 million.

The decision to sell profitable Rediseo was made by American's Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin Jr. and President William V. Luneburg, who took over the firm's top two places Jan. 9.

American Motors has $95 million in short-term bank loans coming due May 31 and needs cash to make payments on time and pave the way to renegotiation of further loans.

The Chapin-Luneburg strategy appears to be to get rid of Rediseo and the Kelvinator appliance divisions, and devote all time, money and energy toward gaining a substantial foothold in the auto market. Both Rediseo and Kelvinator are money makers while the auto division is in the red, observers said.

Wallace Tells North He Is Not A Racist

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama says he's a defender of states' rights, not a racist.

"I have never in my public life made a speech reflecting on the rights of people because of their race, creed, color or religion," he told an audience of Pittsburgh business and profession men last night.

Wallace said that as governor of Alabama he tried to block encroachment by the federal government.

"We don't like it because the federal courts have stepped into every phase of government that should be left to the respective states," he said. "That's all we're talking about — the right of home rule or territorial integrity."

SOME CHEERS

A line of seven or eight men was at the side of the speakers' table throughout the meal earlier. The men had left their $15-a-plate dinners to shake hands with Wallace. The former governor's food, touched only slightly, grew cold as he greeted them.

The reception at Pittsburgh, his second stop on a Northern speaking tour, was in marked contrast to his greeting at Syracuse University Wednesday. That audience, composed largely of college students, interrupted him with jeers and boos.

NEXT STOP

He leaves today for Cleveland, Ohio, for another speech in a four-city tour interpreted as a trial run for a possible presidential candidacy in 1968, as he tried in 1964.

But Wallace said again in Pittsburgh that he will not decide whether to become a candidate until the end of the year.

MARIN FILM FARE

Burtons Continue In 'Virginia Woolf'

By LES DARD

SEQUOIA THEATER

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" is back. Edward Albee's scathing stage success comes to the screen with Elizabeth Taylor (best actress) and Richard Burton (best actor nominee) giving the best team performances of their careers.

Burton plays a history professor married to the college president's near-alcoholic daughter. As his wife, Miss Taylor is boozy and overweight, with clothes awry and makeup smeared. Their marriage is a dying hulk.

The bare-knuckle dialogue is what keeps the film sizzling, and this fateful word game is played admirably not only by the Burton-Taylor team, but by Sandy Denis (best supporting actress) and George Segal (best supporting actor nominee) as well.

MOTOR MOVIES AND TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Credit must go to the British lately for providing the American viewing public with a flock of top-flight entries. One of the most fascinating is "Alfie," now at both theaters, featuring Cockney star Michael Caine.

Alfie is a cheery and irresponsible rogue who takes the viewer on a wild romp through a splendid set of intimate affairs.

101 DRIVE-IN

Robert Morse, repeating his stage role hit, plays a young man with just enough brains to dutifully follow the instructions in one of those "How to Succeed . . ." books. He follows the instructions so well, in fact, that he finds himself president and chairman of the board of World Wide Wickets, Inc., in almost no time. It's riotous journey for participants and audience as well.

RAFAEL THEATER

Paul Newman stars as a white man brought up by the Apaches. Very sketchily, the plot has him on a stagecoach were he saves the lives of his fellow passengers when they are ambushed.

But the story is much deeper than that, with the character dimensions of more depth than usual in Westerns. Particularly striking performances come from Frederic March, Richard Boone, Martin Balsam and Diane Cilento. Barbara Rush, Peter Lazar and Frank Silvera also contribute.

NOVATO THEATER

An intriguing look at World War I through German eyes is presented in the show playing here. It's "The Blue Max," with George Peppard and Ursula Andress.

Peppard plays a young German pilot ruthlessly bent on winning the blue enamel cross of the title. This is an airman's highest award, and one has to shoot down 20 planes to earn it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Alan Arken stars in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming." This theater has decided to hold it over again, possibly due to reports that some of those who saw it last week are still laughing.

The situation is just ripe for a comic talent like Arken. A Russian submarine runs aground on a resort island off Massachusetts. A shore party, with Arken as its head, is sent ashore to deal amicably with the Yankees. But the islanders decide it's an invasion — the first move of World War III—and being stalwart New Englanders, decide to fight it out. Jonathan Winters, Brian Keith and Ben Blue co-star in this funfest of satirical hilarity.

FAIRFAX THEATER

One of the biggest successes in motion picture history has been "The Sound of Music," held over here, and the No. 1 reason has to be seen to be believed.

She's Julie Andrews, and she's everything and more than everyone has been saying. She's absolutely delightful as Maria, a postulant at a pre-World War II Austrian Abbey whose heart is just too big for the cloistered life.

The understanding Mother Superior sends her off to become governess for the seven motherless children of handsome Baron Von Trapp (Christopher Plummer). Here her unflagging charm and good nature transforms the unruly brood into the world-famed Trapp Family singers.

NORTHGATE THEATER

Lynn Redgrave has won the affection of a good percentage of America for her lovable performance in "Georgy Girl," and if you want to see why, don't hesitate.

As the Georgy of the title, she is a girl whose large, awkward form hides a sensitive, loving soul. She seems to be always just the bystander, the one throwing rice or babysitting, until . . . Ah, but what happens is something just a little magical, and should be seen. Don't miss it.

LARK THEATER

Continuing its long run here is a film that eminently deserved its "Best Foreign Film" Oscar. It's "A Man and A Woman," French director Claude LeLouch's triumph. It's very hard to over-rate.

A simple story of a mature love affair is transformed by brilliant writing, camera work, music and performances into a truly memorable cinematic experience. Anouk Aimee and Jean-Louis Tritignant star.

Firing Of Fort Gets Approval

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The dismissal of psychiatrist Joel Fort as director of the San Francisco Center for Special Prolbems was upheld yesterday by the Civic Service Commission.

A lawyer for the 37-year-old man said he would ask Superior Court for a writ of mandamus blocking the dismissal. Dr. Fort was fired two weeks ago by Dr. Ellis Sox, city heatlh dirctor.

Sox had contended that Fort had acted "too independently" in areas where he was not supposed to be.

Church Art Exhibit

An exhibit of oil paintings and other art work by Gloria Churchman of San Francisco will be shown during May at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Marin, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael. Exhibit hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Lutist To Give Marin Concert In Mill Valley

Marin audiences will have the opportunity to hear an internationally-known artist on the lute on May 7 at 8 p.m. at the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts Theater in the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse.

Stanley Buetens, who has toured the United States and Canada three times and who now teaches the lute at Stanford University, will present a program of medieval music. It will include several works of John Dowland.

Buetens will devote one section of his program to lute quartets, in which he will be joined by three of his students in playing music written by Nicolas Vallet in 1615.

Novato Civic Group Elects Officers

Audubon Meeting

Slides of nesting ospreys will be shown to the public by Dr. Peter L. Ames, assistant curator of birds at the Berkeley Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, at a Marin Audubon Society meeting next Friday at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chamber, Marin County Civic Center.

Human Rights Cuts Opposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Edgar Osgood, chairman of the Human Rights Commission here, said yesterday that Mayor John F. Shelley's commission budget cuts are not a good idea.

"Many projects we feel were needed will not be accomplished," Osgood said. The result of the cuts will be a "holding action," he added.

The commission originally asked for $212,000 plus a $50,000 U.S. grant. The mayor, however said it was not possible to give the commission all the money it asked.

Marinite Given Art Club Award

Dennis Dierks of 25 Quarry Road, San Rafael, is recipient of the first Western Art Directors Club scholarship award.

Dierks, who will attend San Francisco Academy of Art, was selected for accomplishment and potential in advertising art by a committee of professional artists, according to academy director Richard Stephens Jr.

Pool Opening Date

Las Gallinas Aquatic Club will open two heated pools, a club room, play area and a barbecue, at Route 101 and Lucas Valley Road, on May 20. It is the club's 11th year, and public swimming lessons are available.

Giants All Bad Thus Far; Is Franks On Way Out?

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sportswriter

Is Herman Franks on the way out as the San Francisco Giants skipper?

Could be with the club, co-favored with the Pittsburgh Pirates to win the 1967 National League pennant, wallowing in the league cellar along with the Houston Astros after the first 13 games with a 4-9 record.

Horace Stoneham, Giants owner who rarely misses a day game these years, walked out after three innings of Wednesday's 4-2 loss to the Cincinnati Reds at Candlestick Park and never even showed up for yesterday's 3-2 defeat by the same team.

The Giants, in Los Angeles for the first of a three-game series with the Dodgers starting tonight, are not playing good baseball either in the field or at bat.

Wednesday, young outfielder Ken Henderson failed to run out a high fly ball down the right field line which fell in safely and he was lucky to get a single out of what should have been a double.

Yesterday, the so-called doubleplay combination of Hal Lanier at short and Tito Fuentes at second booted a couple of easy plays and the Reds stole two bases on catcher Tom Haller.

Throughout spring training he had Lanier at second and Fuentes at short. The two worked hard and long at perfecting a doubleplay, a San Francisco weakness last year. Then Fuentes got hurt and Jim Davenport opened the season at short and Lanier at second.

When Davenport got hurt and Fuentes was able to play again, Franks had the latter swap positions with Lanier. He switched the two back and forth a year ago as well and it wasn't until half the season was over that he finally settled for Fuentes at short and Lanier at second.

On top of their fielding, they aren't hitting .200 between them. Before yesterday's loss to the Reds, Lanier was hitting .077 and went 0-2 and Fuentes was at .121 and failed to hit safely in three at-bats.

Lanier's and Fuentes' weak hitting could be overlooked if the team's sluggers—such as Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Jim Hart—were producing, but they aren't.

Mays is hobbled by a pulled hamstring which is affecting his hitting and fielding, McCovey is batting around .250 but has five homers, and Hart is hitting .133.

In fairness to Franks, he can't bat or field for his players but he is responsible for their performances, good or bad, and they have been all bad thus far.

This is the worst start the Giants have had since moving their franchise from New York 10 years ago. Last year, they were 6-7 after the first 13 games for their previous worst getaway.

In yesterday's game with the Reds, who were picked to finish 5-6-7, depending on who was making the selections, excellent pitching with just enough hitting enabled them to grab their 12th victory in 16 decisions.

Another week like the last and the Giants could be far enough behind to require a near-record winning streak to get back into the N.L. chase by all-star game break. All of which enhanced rumors around San Francisco that Stoneham may be ready to make a managerial change.

It doesn't help Franks' chances any with former big league manager Cookie Lavagetto sitting on the bench beside him. Cookie, though, is a trusted lieutenant and consistently has turned down opportunities to return as a manager, preferring to stay on as a coach for the Gaints and be near his home in Oakland.

He and Stoneham could change all that in a hurry.

Cassius Clay Refuses To Be Inducted Into Army

Lengthy Court Battle Coming

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay refused Army induction today and faced a possible five-year prison sentence and loss of his title.

Lt. Col. J. D. McKee, commandant of the Houston Induction Center, announced at 2:06 p.m., EST, that Clay, who contends he spends 90 per cent of his time as a Black Muslim preacher, had refused to take the traditional step forward symbolizing entrance into the Armed Services.

U.S. Atty. Morton Susman said he would begin immediate criminal action, but estimated that legal procedures would take from 30 to 60 days even to get an indictment.

TWO-YEAR FIGHT

"Even then it may be two years before this can be fought out in the courts," Susman said. "Meanwhile, Clay, or Muhammed Ali if you wish, will be free to keep on fighting and preaching."

In New York, the influential State Athletic Commission announced Clay would be stripped of his title and an elimination tournament would be staged to pick a successor.

The World Boxing Association and other controlling groups in the sport were expected to take similar action.

Clay insisted "I will take my title to prison with me."

His attorney, Hayden Covington of New York, announced he would refile immediately a 67-page law suit challenging the entire structure of the Selective Service System and the right of the government to take criminal action against his client.

TO WASHINGTON

"The champ will never go to jail — we will fight this out to the finish," Covington said. He added that he planned to go immediately to Washington to seek an injunction against the government's prosecution of the heavyweight champion.

Clay sought to avoid the draft on grounds that he is a practicing minister of the Islam faith and that boxing is only a sideline.

His lawyers contended also that he was discriminated against because of the unpopularity of the Muslim religion and the makeup of the Texas draft boards which they said have an unfair Negro representation.

Clay, accompanied by assistant trainer Lew Brown and a personal photographer, Howard Bingham, arrived at the induction center shortly before 9 a.m., EST, and calmly went through all other induction formalities.

At roll call officers asked him what name he wanted to use, and the champion replied: "I am Muhammed Ali.' '

Marin Tennis Star On Spray Net Team?

HAIRY TALE — A Marin Athletic League tennis star, kicked off his team because he refused to have his long locks shorn, blurted to his coach: "I'm going to report this to the American Civil Liberties Union."

Doodness dwacious, fella, why don't you just tell your hair dwesser and then weport to the girls' gym for ping pong pwactice. Pass the Spray Net, please.

Thanks to our wholesome coaches, most Marin high school athletes are well groomed. Those punks who wear their hair down over their ears have no right impersonating athletes and should be drummed out of the sports parade.

MALE CALL—And now for some reports on our MALE athletes:

Drake High alumnus Bob Tobin, a frosh two-sport star at Santa Clara, came within a whisker of a no-no Wednesday. The 215-pound righthander pitcher hurled a one-hit, 11-0 victory over the USF Frosh, losing his perfect game with two out in the ninth inning.

And while we're at Santa Clara, it pleases me to inform you that ex-Marin Catholic student Dick Ghilotti, who did not play football as a prep, is now spring practicing with the Bronco varsity. A tight end, Dick "discovered" football last season as a soph and appears headed for stardom next fall, according to my peninsula agents.

HOMECOMING—Terra Lindan Bill Lee, the star lefthander for USC's Trojans, is in the Bay Area this weekend for a three-game series with Stanford and Cal. Bill, whose 10-2 won-lost record and 1.47 earned run average are main reasons the Trojans are top-ranked nationally, has lost two of his last three starts but hopes to end the slump at the expense of the Bears and Indians.

SOUTHERN CHAPTER—Terra Linda High has the makings of an alumni association on the U. C. at Santa Barbara football squad now in spring training.

No less than five T.L. Trojans are working with the Santa Babs varsity, including end Doug Barker, a 6-2, 215-pound junior; guard Dave Dukes, 6-1, 200 soph; fullback Rick Edwards, 5-10, 170 soph; end Stan Pareto, 5-8, 176 junior; and guard Norm Trondsen, 5-11, 200 soph.

SONOMA STARS—John Owen of San Rafael, a freshman, rates high in Sonoma State College tennis coach Stan Goertzen's future book. "Owen has as much potential as any I have seen during the past few years," said the coach in a college publication.

Other Marin athletes at Sonoma are pitcher Tim Furlong of Tomales and trackman Dave Johnson of Novato, a freshman who specializes in the 440, which is two furlongs.

WEDDING—Former Tam High basketball star Conrad Hoetger was married last Saturday to Rebecca Moyer of Mill Valley. Hoetger's now a guidance counselor at Richardson Bay School, Sausalito.

Lou Johnson Breaks Ankle

Johnson will be out 10 to 12 weeks after fracturing his ankle while sliding into home plate in the first inning of last night's 6-0 victory over Atlanta.

IN CAST

A cast was applied to the break, and Johnson is resting in Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital in nearby Inglewood.

"Obviously, we have nobody to take Lou's place," said Dodger General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, "and it will be up to Wes Parker, Jim Hickman and Al Ferrara to fill in for him.

"If we had anybody in the organization good enough to replace Johnson, he already would be on the team.

"Lou's bat and glove are important, of course, but its' his spirit that is the big thing. He is a fine influence on the team. He has the knack of saying the right thing at the right time.

"Crutches and all, Lou will make the road trips with us. We need him around," Bavasi concluded.

Johnson, 33, had kicked around no fewer than 18 clubs in 12 years of professional baseball before the 1965 season. He was playing for Spokane, the Dodgers' Pacific Coast League farm team, that spring, when Tommy Davis broke his ankle in a slide at Dodger Stadium.

Lou filled the gap admirably, hitting 12 homers, driving in 58 runs and batting .259. But it was his stretch drive, bringing home 19 runs in September that contributed most to the Dodgers' pennant.

A year ago, the right-handed hitter registered 17 homers and 72 runs batted in and increased his average to .272.

During the current Dodger home stand, as Los Angeles was winning six of nine games from Cincinnati, St. Louis and Atlanta, Johnson was again the spark. He was in the midst of a five-game hitting streak, driving in the winning runs in two games and setting up the decisive rally in a third.

Winning pitcher Claude Osteen said afterwards: "Lou runs the other clubs into a lot of mistakes. It's a pleasure to watch him play ball."

It's McCormick Vs. Sutton In Giants-Dodgers Opener

The San Francisco Giants, off to their worst start since the club moved out of New York to open business on the West Coast 10 seasons ago, start an 11-game road trip tonight by visiting the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first of three contests.

Yesterday the punchless Giants bowed to the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, for their ninth loss in the first 13 games of the season.

Mel Queen, Cincinnati's converted outfielder, beat them this time with an assist from ace fireman Ted Abernathy who now has seven saves for the campaign.

Queen (3-0) was taken out in the eighth inning after walking pinch-hitter Norm Siebern who led off. Up to that point, the son of former New York Yankee hurling star Mel Queen had walked only one other batter, struck out three and allowed three hits which included Willie McCovey's bases empty homer in the seventh.

Abernathy came on with Cesar Gutierrez taking over to run for Siebern. The Giants rookie infielder moved around to third on Ollie Brown's single plus a throwing error by Abernathy on Tito Fuentes' sacrifice bunt.

Then, with three on, Mays hit into a fielder's choice which brought Gutierrez across after Ken Henderson fanned. McCovey then walked to reload the bases but Jim Hart bounced out to end the frame.

The Reds jumped loser Gaylord Perry (1-2) for two runs in the fifth on Deron Johnson's homer. Then they knocked him out in the eighth with consecutive singles by Tommy Harper, Art Shamsky and Vada Pinson which brought across what proved to be the winning run.

TEXAS OPEN GOLF

Rodriguez, Campbell Tied

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) —Bert Yancey's putter, which paved the road to his $20,000 triumph in the Greater Dallas Open only three days earlier, turned a bit sour on him yesterday in the opening round of the $100,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

But, despite missing a half dozen or so putts that he ordinarily would figure to get down and despite an up-and-down tour of Pecan Valley Country Club's back nine during which he had only one par, Yancey still found himself hot on the heels of the first-day front-runners—little Chi Chi Rodriguez and stubby Joe Campbell.

Rodriguez and Campbell fired their three-under-par 68s among the early finishers then sat back and watched the field shoot at it. No one quite caught up and they started today's second round over the 7,100-yard par 36-35—71 layout with a tender one stroke lead.

Yancey, the 28-year-old former West Pointer who is beginning to look like the same tour artist who racked up three titles last year, was among those who came closest with two-under-par 69s.

Dick Crawford, making his first tour appearances in six weeks, also was at 69 along with former Texas Open champ Jay Hebert, Charles Coody and Bert Weaver.

Aussie, Swede In Net Finals

Hewitt defeated Roger Taylor of Britain 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4 and Lundquist beat Bobby Wilson, also of Britain, 7-5, 13-11, 6-3.

In the women's singles semifinals, Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain crushed Pat Walkden of Rhodesia 6-0, 6-0 and Virginia Wade of Britain downed Winnie Shaw, of Scotland, 6-3, 6-2.

JIM MURRAY

Dodger Donald Sutton Too Young For Curves

"The deuce," the ballplayers call it. "The snake." "The shrike." "Public Enemy No. 1," Roy Campanella named it.

It's what makes the game of baseball difficult. The .250 hitters wish it could be outlawed like the spitball. It keeps the road to Spokane clogged with dissapointed youngsters. It keeps the Hall of Fame roomy.

The Bureau of Standards and several generations of people with photo-electric cells say it doesn't exist. It's an optical illusion like the lady cut in half by the great Blackstone or the ace of spades that disappears before your eyes. To which Casey Stengel retorted. "You see? It fools even them machines."

WE USED to call it the "drop." Or the "in-shoot." Or the "out-shoot." Frank Merriwell had a "double in-shoot." But that was only in books. They called Christy Mathewson's the "fadeaway."

THEY ARE all describing the same thing — the ever-lovin' curve ball. A ball thrown with spin instead of straight velocity. It rotates at a rate of 600 revolutions a minute and veers from the horizontal as much as 19 inches. A good one is impossible to hit. "The hell it don't curve!" is baseball's battle-cry. A national magazine attempted elaborately to prove the opposite and arrayed all the forces of modern optics. They proved their point using a pitcher named Cy Blanton. "Hell!" snapped Fresco Thompson. "All they proved was Cy Blanton hasn't got a good curve. His manager suspected that a long time ago. The hitters weren't going to let on to anybody."

THE FIRST one was thrown by a character named Arthur Cummings with the Brooklyn Excelsiors in 1866. He was like a guy on a riverboat with his own dice for awhile but it was like hiding a joke at a comedians' convention. Plagiarism was soon widespread.

WHICH BRINGS me to Donald Howard Sutton. Donald Howard Sutton, a salaried employee of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is too young to have a good a curve ball as he does. A batter came storming back to the dugout after missing a curve by 18½ inches one night and a teammate innocently asked, "What did he say to you?" "What can he say?" snarled the fanned batsman. "The only word he knows is 'Goo!'" When he showed up under the weather one night from an upset stomach, Bobby Bragan inquired, "Why don't they just burp him?"

DON SUTTON is just 22 now but he has been throwing a curveball over half his life. Most throwers don't bother to learn a curve till their fast one starts coming in like fourth-class mail.

SOME ENEMY of society named Henry Roper, a grade school teacher in Florida, taught Don Sutton how to hold and throw a curveball. Don't stand near him around a batting cage.

SUTTON, A CALM, God-fearing young man with such a subwhite complexion that the players call him "The Porpoise," has refined his curve to a point where it's a half-knuckler. He crimps his index finger atop the ball which makes the ball appear to dive for the ground like a crashing airplane. He can throw this malicious mischief for a strike. I believeit was Jim Pagliaroni who sent his bat and helmet thudding into the dugout one night as one of thes twisters dropped over the strike zone for the third time. "The count is 3-and-2 and the kid throws the snake!" roared Jim. "Don't they take kids out behind the woodshed no more?"

DON SUTTON'S curveball is so good that among its victims may be Don Sutton. He tends to over-rely on it in tight spots. "I've been pitching backward all my life," he says. "I throw the curveball when I'm behind the hitter. Most guys just want to get that ball in the strike zone. So they throw the straight ball. My trouble is, I'm so in love with my curveball I may overuse it."

The hitters' only hope is, that love will go unrequited. Meanwhile, to a man, they hope to push through a law making it a felony to teach the curveball to anyone who can't vote and punishable by death for anyone teaching it to someone who hasn't got his second teeth yet.

THE GIANTS will get a taste of the snake this weekend on their visit to Los Angeles.

Trout Anglers Face Snow For Opener

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Those high-country fishing spots savored by many of California's one million licensed anglers will be mostly snowbound when this year's general trout season open tomorrow.

And the State Fish and Game Department warned anglers they'll likely find accessible streams and lakes plenty crowded on the opening weekend.

The department advised: Stay on paved or graveled roads in the mountains.

Those same snowpacks that are bound to throw a crimp in many traditional opening day plans also will provide better than usual spring and summer fishing, the department said.

The roads are snow-blocked and lakes frozen in most Sierra regions above 5,000 feet in the north and 7,000 feet in the central and southern regions. Officials advised anglers to check local authorities before planning their opening-weekend outings.

The general season continues through Oct. 31 in most of the state.

But the season doesn't open until May 27 in northwestern California except for Freshwater Lagoon in Humboldt County and Pillsbury Lake in Lake County.

No major new regulations affecting trout season will go into effect this year, officials said. The bag limit still is 10 trout or a total of 10 pounds and one additional fish.

To avoid trouble with watchful game wardens, those over 16 years old must have a $3 angler's license and two $1 license stamps in their possession.

Most fishing authorities recommend sticking with roadside streams, lakes and reservoirs in the lowlands for the best success of the opening weeks. The remainder of the state's fishing areas should be ready for full operation by late spring or early summer.

Fish and game spotters are making continuous air surveys of major areas to keep information on snow and road conditions up to date.

They predict top opening prospects in Northern California should be at McCloud and Iron Canyon reservoirs and Shasta Lake in Shasta County; Freshwater Lagoon, Doris Reservoir in Siskiyou County and Clair Engle Lake in Trinity County.

Federal officials advised against fishing at Whisekytown Reservoir near Redding as the water level has been lowered considerably as a flood control precaution and nearly all the boat launching ramps are high and dry.

Best bets for the more central regions are Antelope and Frenchman reservoirs and Lake Almanor in Plumas County.

Thirty-five lakes, streams and reservoirs in the central coast counties have been well stocked and should have catchable-size trout opening day.

TWO GAMES APIECE

Canadiens Even NHL Playoffs

TORONTO (UPI)—The Montreal Canadiens finally "deserve" to win the Stanley Cup, but they may just have won that right by default.

"A team that cannot win on the road doesn't deserve to win the Stanley Cup," Montreal Coach Joe Blake said the other day.

His team won on the road last night when it routed the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 to tie the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

The victory, however, may have been brought about by the fact that the goalie facing the Canadiens was not Johnny Bower, who shut them out 3-0 in the second game of the series and held them scoreless for 28 minutes and 26 seconds of overtime in the third game, but Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk was outstanding in the semi-finals against the Chicago Black Hawks, but he looked hopelessly inept last night. He had not played since last week when he was replaced by Bower in the third period of the series opener which Montreal won 6-2.

Bower had been given the nod to start in goal yesterday but he suffered a pulled groin muscle when he reached for a shot in the pre-game warmup. The Leafs did not have a back-up goalie on the bench in the first period because they hoped Bower would recover.

Jean Beliveau and Ralph Backstrom scored two goals each to lead the Canadiens to their victory. Henri Richard and Jim Roberts also scored for Montreal.

Tim Horton and Mike Walton scored the Leafs' goals.

The two teams meet again tomorrow afternoon in Montreal and the sixth game of the series will take place in Toronto Tuesday.

Indy Practice To Start Tomorrow

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) —The 500-mile "festival of speed" opens tomorrow when practice for the Memorial Day auto races get under way.

With traditional pomp and ceremony, the track will be pronounced ready by chief steward Harlan Fengler—and barring typical April showers, what should be the busiest month in speedway history, will be under way.

A record field of 90 cars was announced and although some of them are "back-up" machines, traffic on the famed 2 1-2-mile oval was expected to be the heaviest ever.

The best internationally-oriented field since before World War I days has been assembled for a crack at racing's largest purse, which this year will exceed $700,000 for the first time.

The foreign contingent will be led by the race winners of the last two years, Scotland's Jimmy Clark and Britain's Graham Hill, along with another Scot, Jackie Stewart, who had last year's race won until oil pressure problems knocked him out 10 laps from the finish.

The Yankee contingent will lead with former winners A. J. Foyt and Parnelli Jones, and qualifications record-holder Mario Andretti, the national driving champion of the United States Auto Club.

Flashy Bin Wins Feature

ALBANY (AP) — Flashy Bin forged to the front in the final furlong and captured the $4,000 Stonestown Purse for 3-year-old fillie by a neck yesterday over six furlongs at Golden Gate Fields.

Flashy Bin, ridden by Esteban Medina, was timed in 1:10 3-5 and paid $6.60, $3.40 and $2.80 as the favorite. Gloria S. came in second and returned $4.20 and $3.20. Fleet's Image ran third in the seven-horse race for a $4.40 payoff.

Candlestick Might Be Enlarged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco's Recreation and Park Commission yesterday approved plans for a $7 million expansion program for windswept Candlestick Park.

The enlargement would turn the park, used now by the baseball Giants, into a multipurpose stadium that would be shared by the 49ers of the National Football League.

Seating capacity would be increased to 6,200 for baseball, 66,500 for football and 67,200 for boxing, conventions, shows and other events.

The plans call for extension of the upper and lower decks to completely encircle the park—and hopefully help protect the playing field from the gusty winds that swirl around the field.

Knicks Believe Bill Bradley Will Rival Basketball's Best

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knickerbockers think Bill Bradley can be a super star of the future to rival Wilt Chamberlain, Bill Russell, Oscar Robertson, Jerry Luacs, Rick Barry, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West.

"For the first time we have a potential super star," said Ned Irish, president of the Knicks yesterday when it was announced Bradley had signed a four-year contract believed to call for close to $500,000.

"I don't say he'll do it," said Irish. "But he has a chance to do it."

Bradley, na American at Oxford for two years as a Rhodes schola r, was drafted by the Knicks when he came out of Princeton in 1965 as a celebrated All-America and Olympic star. He chose to continue his studies.

"We had several meetings with Bradley and his lawyer, Larry Fleisher',' said Irish. "This covered a period of several weeks while Bill was home on vacation. He had to return to Oxford last Friday but flew back Tuesday and Irving Felt and I completed the arrangements Wednesday night."

Although no terms were announced. Felt, chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden, which owns the National Basketball Association club, said, "To my knowledge the contract is for one of the largest money amounts ever paid a professional athlete in a team sport."

Willie Mays, the highest-salaried baseball player, gets $125,000 a year. Boxers make more, but they are not in a team sport.

The Knicks will have to wait before cashing in on their investment in Bradley because he is in the Air Force and will be on active duty from July until January. Presumably, he will join the club in mid season.

Bradley, 23, is a 6-foot-5, 205-pounder, did not play last winter except for sporadic appearances with a team at Oxford University which he described as "something like cricket at Crystal City." (his home town in Missouri).

After leading Princeton to third place in the NCAA tournament in 1965, Bradley played amateur ball with an Italian team at Milan in 1965-66.

"I hope I can perform capably for the Knickerbockers," said Bradley, attired in a light blue Knick blazer. "There was that nagging thought I had in Europe that I wasn't playing against the best. This should not be construed to mean that I want to show I'm better. There is great question in my own mind."

Bradley said he had been approached by the New York team of the new American Basketball Association, a potential rival to the NBA.

"My decision has been made," he said with a note of finality. "I would just as soon not say anything about money."

Bradley, an articulate young man whose ultimate ambition is "to be of service to other people," did his best to explain his reason for playing pro. He apologized for fear his words might sound trite.

"The main factor was that I really found, during my two years away, something that I suspected all along. I love the game of basketball. I know this may sound trite but that is the way I feel."

Astros End Losing Streak After 10 Straight Setbacks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Morgan of the Houston Astros broke an 0-24 streak and ended Houston's 10-game losing skein last night as the Astros defeated St. Louis 6-4 and dropped the Cardinals from first place in the National League.

Houston was in danger of setting a club losing record when Morgan picked on reliever Hal Woodeshick's second pitch that came in waist-high and lined a triple into right field that cleared the bases in the seventh inning after the Astros loaded the sacks with two singles and a walk. Two more runs followed on Eddie Mathews' double and a sacrifice fly.

PREDICTS GOOD SEASON

"The rest should come easy," Morgan assured his teammates as he looked forward to continued good hitting that made him the 1966 N.L. All-Star second baseman. Morgan's hopes of continued success were shattered last season, however, when he broke a kneecap that kept him out for most of the second half.

Cincinnati took the lead in the N.L. by edging San Francisco 3-2. Pittsburgh shaded Philadelphia 5-4, Chicago shut out New York 3-0, and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked Atlanta 6-0.

There was only one game played in the American League, Cleveland's 5-4 victory over Minnesota. The California at Baltimore game was postponed by wet grounds.

Ron Hunt, obtained from the Mets for Tommy Davis, drove in four Dodger runs with a single and a double as Osteen recorded his third win in four decisions. He walked one and struck out four. Denny Lemaster lost his first game.

CLENDENON HOMERS

Jesse Gonder, brought in as a pinchhitter in a seventh inning rally that tied the game, singled in the winning run for Pittsburgh in the eighth frame. Donn Clendenon powered his the Pirates in the second inning. Pete Mikkelsen won his first game in relief. Philadelphia reliever Dick Hall suffered his first setback.

Ferguson Jenkins fanned the side ni the first inning and went on to add five more strikeouts as Chicago gained its first shut out of the season. Jenkins allowed the Mets only three hits. Lee Thomas drove in two Cub runs that helped bring about Jack Fisher's second loss. Jenkins won his third game without a loss.

In the lone American League encounter, Willie Smith whacked a pinch-hit double in the eighth inning for Cleveland's winning run. The Indians blew a four-run leda and were in trouble when Bob Allison hit a three-run homer in the sixth and Rich Rollins doubled home the tying run in the seventh.

It's Official: Lakers Have A New Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers, after their worst season since moving here from Minneapolis seven years ago, have tapped W. H. (Bill or Butch) van Breda Kloff to lead them back to prominence in the National Basketball Association.

Van Breda Kolff, an ex-Marine with a brilliant college record, including four Ivy League titles in the past five years at Princeton, was officially named coach of the Lakers at a news conference yesterday.

The new coach has a three-year contract and though terms were not disclosed, reports were Wednesday, when van Breda Kolff's impending appoint became known, that the pact called for $30,000 a year.

Meanwhile, Fred Schaus, who coached the Lakers since their arrival on the West Coast, will move up to general manager, succeeding Lou Mohs.

Mohs was named by owner Jack Kent Cooke as executive vice president of Cooke's trio of sports teams — the Lakers, the new Kings of the National Hock-League and the Wolves of the United Soccer Association.

Cal Spikers Host UCLA Tomorrow

The Bears are floating after their most impressive track win in several years when they upset San Jose State last Saturday, but the Bruins should bring them back to earth.

Paddy McCrary, long-legged junior from New York, is the Bears' top scorer this year. He'll have a classic match-up in his 440 hurdle specialty against UCLA's Roger Johnson tomorrow in what could be the day's best race.

Distance ace Bob Price is the second Bear high scorer but should have problems against the UCLA distance men. The Bears will be favored only in the long jump, where Stan Royster and Jim Kennedy have the edge.

The Bay Area's other major teams will be out of the area Saturday. San Jose State is at the Mt. San Antonio Relays at Walnut while Stanford calls on Washington.

Local Bay area Chevy OK used car dealers know how to spoil their customers

They've had a lot of practice

Chevy OK dealers probably sell more used cars than anyone else. That says something about the way they treat their customers. It also says something about the cars on an OK lot. So stop where you see the OK sign and see if you don't get spoiled, too. You won't be the first.

Look for LOCAL BAY area Chevy dealers' "Kid Glove" Specials in the Classified Section.

Utilities Slow, But Good Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "The attached list shows our holdings — 50 per cent cash and 50 per cent stocks, mostly utilities. These are good and solid, but stiff and uninspiring. I believe some action is due, although we are 80 and 70 years old respectively. We are parochial in outlook and seem to have amassed a graveyard of utilities. What should we do?" O. F.

A. You have one of the most interesting and astute minds of any man of your age I have encountered. I agree that a heavy concentration in utilities has been a discouraging position over the past few years. The reason is in the nature of the stocks themselves.

As with all groups, average action is not wholly relevant. Your Commonwealth Edison has done very well over a 10-year period, whereas your Consolidated Edison, hurt by rising costs and taxes, has had slower gains. As the boom slows down, I believe you will see a return to greater favor of the conservative, recession-resistant utilities.

Q. "Last year we bought American Cyanamid at 93⅜. After its big decline to 32, should we hold?" M. K.

A. Your stock was split two-for-one after you bought it. This automatically cut your cost price in half to $46.69. You hold a good stock, temporarily depressed, and I would keep it.

KEEPS BUSINESS SECRETS

This little hand-operated paper shredder put out by Electric Wastebasket Corp., 145 West 45th Street, New York destroys letters and documents that should not be re-read, a few sheets at a time. It is not designed for shredding material in large quantity which should be done with an electric machine.

Profit Takers Keep Market Below 900

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today but failed in an attempt to reach the important 900 level in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Analysts said that the 900 level represented a psychological barrier and that many professionals said it was time to stop, look and listen. Profit taking increased but there was no big rush to sell.

As anticipated by analysts, the Dow 900 line would prove a psychological barrier. As the list came within one point of it, profits were taken in some leading issues.

Plus signs were in the majority, however. General Motors, up more than a point, paced other Big Three auto stocks. Chrysler and Ford gained fraction.

Air Reducation rose nearly 2. Up about a point were Kennecott, General Foods and Standard Pressed Steel.

Down about a point were such stocks as Pfizer, U.S. Gypsum, United Air Lines and Polaroid.

ROBERT W. HAACK, president of the National Assn. of Security Dealers, was selected this week to succeed Keith Funston as the next president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Haack, 50, who began his financial career as a runner for a Milwaukee bank, is expected to take over the post this fall if arrangements can be made for his successor as head of NASD. Funston will continue as president of the exchange until Sept. 9, when his contract expires. He has been president since 1951.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANIES' first quarter sales and earnings have been reported as slightly better than last year. Sales of $356 million showed a gain of 1 per cent. Earnings amounted to $25.2 million, or 55 cents a share, compared with last year's $25.1 million — still 55 cents a share.

SIGNAL OIL AND GAS CO. reported consolidated net income of $7.5 million for the first quarter of 1967, compared with $8.1 million last year. Net income applicable to common stock amounted to 63 cents a share, compared with 70 cents a year ago. Increased expenses in the company's expansion program coupled with continued deterioration of product prices in Europe are said to be reflected in this year's first quarter earnings.

REPUBLIC CORP. has reported the completion of the company's North Hollywood studio properties to Columbia Broadcasting System, Inf. for $9.5 million cash. CBS has been occupying the property for the past four years under a lease with option to buy. Republic operates industrial and commercial enterprises in the plastics, film processing and home product fields.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA net income of $103.5 million was reported for the first quarter, compared with $101.4 million for the same period of 1966. Per share earnings of $1.28 compared with $1.26 last year. A quarterly dividend of 62.5 cents a share has been declared, payable June 9 to stockholders of record May 10.

BEMIS CO. INC. sales and earnings for the first quarter increased over last year. Sales for the three months were $62.5 million, compared to $55.8 last year — up 12 per cent. Earnings rose 25 per cent, or 82 cents a share, up from 69 cents per share last year. Directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock, payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 12.

JOHNS-MANVILLE CORP. sales and earnings for the first quarter dipped below record levels of last year. Sales of $104.1 million compared with $106.6 million last year. Earnings of $4.5 million or 54 cents per share of common stock compared with $6.3 million or 75 cents per share in 1966. Lower earnings were attributed primarily to increased wage and raw material costs.
